'I'll Be Back Next Season To Win' — Mayfield

"I can't speak for the board or administration, but I intend to be back here next year and win," Gene Mayfield said emphatically.

His back to a wall holding plaques proclaiming him coach of the year, Mayfield, the West Texas State University football coach who finds his back against the wall of public opinion, opinion proclaiming him unworthy of the title, introspectively reviewed Tuesday a 1973 football season which has seen his Buffaloes compile a dismal record.

It is with a philosophical attitude that Mayfield, who came to Canyon just two years ago after coaching state champion high school teams for years, eyed the criticism he has received this season as coach of the Buffaloes.

But, it was with emphasis that he proclaimed without hesitation that the administration willing, he will remain at the helm of the Buffaloes.

While his Buffaloes have three more games on their 1973 11-game schedule, the poeple whose business it is to forecast such things see three more losses to be tallied in with the Buffalo record.

Mayfield, who began his tenure at WTSU with a green squad of virtually new recruits two years ago, believes his trouble began when the Buffaloes tied for the Missouri Valley Conference championship last year.

To the lean head coach, the win came too soon for a team which was still in the formative stages.

"I wish we hadn't won the tie," Mayfield now says, and he says it with good reason.

"I wish we hadn't come as fast as we did because people wouldn't have had the attitude they've had," he said.

The Buffaloes, playing a schedule of relatively weak opponents last season, came out in a three-way tie for the conference title. Mayfield said the Buffs, playing a good number of sophomores and freshmen, simply did not play in 1972 two or three of the tougher Valley teams and he's not hesitant to call the tie a fluke.

What the championship tie did was to set a standard in public opinion, a public willing to believe that the Buffs were better than they were, a public not willing to understand the limitations of a team still maturing.

Mayfield is hesitant, though, to point to any one factor which has caused his season to sour and which has caused widespread criticism.

Although the Valley tie was a factor, and a major one, he believes other factors were also involved.

"In a losing season everything is magnified," he said, "even little things. I don't think there's any single one thing or any single one individual at fault."

Mayfield believes that the championship tie last season set the stage for this fall's season.

"Back at the outset I was very apprehensive, even though we won last year," he said. "I had mixed feelings.

"I couldn't say I wasn't happy the way it (the 1972 season) turned out, but I had mixed feelings since we didn't play two or three of the better teams in the conference."

Mayfield said as a result of his apprehension, he took it upon himself during the summer season ticket selling drive in Panhandle area towns to point out to civic groups what while optimism is nice, caution would be more appropriate in anticipating the Buffaloes of 1973.

He found himself in one of those untenable positions. While it is inappropriate for a coach to be a cry-baby, bad mouthing his prospects, Mayfield felt his assessment of the team was not the assessment of the general public, already believing that because of the tie in 1972, the Buffs

VOL. 77 NO. 32 | CANYON, TEXAS | THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1973 | 14 PAGES 1 SECTION | 15 CENTS

Canyon firemen worked for an hour Monday night spraying water on the disintegrated cabin of a truck tractor which overturned and exploded about 8:45 p.m. on Washington Street about four miles east of Canyon. The driver, Teddy Layne Godwin, was dead at the scene.

Death Scene Danger Cited In Accidents

A Randall County resident, who says during the past few months he's pulled three to four cars from the ditch four miles east of Canyon where a Lubbock man died in a fiery truck turnover Monday night, cited the intersection as inherently dangerous.

Alvin Kuhlman, who lives just a few hundred yards from the intersection of Washington Street with the Palo Duro Highway, said he's pulled three or four cars from the ditch after they hit a concrete median which runs down Washington Street.

Teddy Lane Godwin, 27, of Lubbock, lost his life about 8:45 p.m. Monday when the truck tractor he was driving hit the median, swerved into the ditch, flew into the air and burst into flames as it struck several trees.

Godwin was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace W.A. "Bill" Wilson.

The exact scene of the accident Monday night is about half-way between the intersection of Washington Street and the Palo Duro Highway and the intersection of a road which separates from the Palo Duro Highway before the Washington intersection and intersects with the Washington Street about a half mile south of the Washington intersection.

Kuhlman's concern is with the median which runs along Washington Street north and south of its intersection with the road which runs from Palo Duro Highway.

"Four people in the last year have ended up in the ditch on account of hitting the median," Kuhlman said. "They need to do something about it. When you hit it there's not much you can do. Something's not right out there."

Kuhlman said the median has been in location about five years.

"It's going to get worse because the road is being used more for traffic," he said.

Signs warn motorists coming from the south that a divided highway can be expected ahead. A small warning sign is placed on the south and north end of the median.

But, the median is wide and Washington Street curves toward the ditches without warning. The south and north ends of the median are not painted a color which can be seen at night.

The south part of the median ends so traffic can turn left onto the Palo Duro Road extension. But, then the median begins on the north edge of that intersection without marking.

Kuhlman said the accidents always happen at night and called for some improvements to the road to make the median more noticeable.

Godwin was approaching the intersection from the south in his truck tractor, when he hit the median, according to Highway Patrolman Richard Ayala.

Ayala said Godwin was pinned underneath the wreckage of the vehicle and was probably dead before the fire began in the tractor.

Six units of the Canyon Fire Department fought the blaze before bringing it under control.

County Ag Production Could Top $70 Million

Gross sales from the products of Randall County farms and ranches this year are expected to be nearly double the gross sales recorded in 1972 — a whopping $70 million.

County Agent John Brazzil, watching an average grain sorghum crop in its last stages of harvest, predicted the $70 million in sales, a figure which does not include any payments made to producers under government programs.

Official 1972 crop and livestock sales showed Randall County's gross exceeded $47 million. The county placed among the top dozen in gross sales in the state and among the top 75 in the nation.

Brazzil said the largest income producer in the county is the continuously growing fed-beef industry.

"The official January 1973 inventory showed a one-time feedlot capacity of 121,000 head of cattle," he said. "More than 200,000 head of fed beef are sold annually from county feedlots."

Gross income from the sale of fed beef is nearly $40 million and this figure includes only add-on value.

Gross income from Randall County's two major cash grain crops, wheat and grain sorghum, is expected to reach $22 million in 1973, well over the under $10 million reported in 1972.

"It appears that wheat will come out ahead this year with the large acreage, excellent yields, and strong prices with grain sorghum running a close second with a near normal average yield but strong market demand," Brazzil said.

Other major producers of income in the livestock segment of the agricultural economy in the county include milk and dairy product sales, sales of stocker cattle purchased for grazing and resale, sale of breeding animals and cows, income from calves produced in cow-calf operations, swine sales, income from poultry products, and even income from fish farmers.

Crops with smaller impact than wheat and grain sorghum, but substantial yield for some county producers include rye, barley, oats, soybeans, sugar beets, cotton, hay and ensilage and a growing greenhouse floral industry, he said.

"Randall County producers as well as all agricultural producers

Eleven Percent Of Area Voters Turn Down Solon Salary Hike

A larger number of voters than anticipated went to Randall County polls during 80-degree weather Tuesday to turn down a $15,000 salary for Texas legislators and four other proposed amendments to the state constitution.

A total of 3,237 persons voted in the 12 voting places and 70 persons had voted absentee in the election which saw two of the most controversial amendments go down to defeat.

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton had predicted before the election that about 10 per cent of the registered voters in the county would cast ballots in the special election. With 29,064 registered voters as of election day, the per centage was 11.14 per cent who voted in the Tuesday balloting.

Voters defeated Amendment 1 on the ballot, an amendment which would give legislators an annual salary of $15,000 and which would call for annual sessions of the legislature. The county-wide vote was 1,119 for and 2,136 against.

Also downed by a margin of 56 per cent against and 37 per cent for was an amendment which would have given district courts and county courts concurrent jurisdiction in probate matters. County Judge Woody Pond and local county commissioners have opposed the measure and just recently passed a resolution opposing the amendment. The amendment failed by a vote of 1,880 against and 1,251 for.

Voters also cast no votes on a constitutional amendment to provide for an additional $100 million in bonds or obligations of the state for the Veterans' Land Fund. The vote was close, 1,603 against and 1,595 for.

Sixty-eight per cent of the voters cast ballots against amendment 8 which would authorize cities, towns and villages to levy such ad valorem taxes as are sufficient to pay the principal of and interest on their general obligations. The vote was 2,260 against and 917 for.

Amendment 9, which called for the legislature to exempt from property taxes certain property used by a nonprofit water supply corporation or a nonprofit water supply cooperative, also went down in defeat. A total of 1,256 for votes were cast compared to 1,932 against.

Randall County voters approved of four of the amendments.

Amendment 2, which called for homestead protection for the real property of single adults, had the widest margin of victory with 77 per cent of the voters casting "for" ballots. A total of 2,568 voted for and 674 were against.

Amendment 3, which extends the $3000 ad valorem tax exemption to homesteads of unmarried adults, passed by a margin of 2,488 to 765.

Fifty-seven per cent of the voters approved of amendment 4, which called for establishing requirements for laws creating conservation and reclamation districts. The vote was 1,915 for and 1,250 against.

Amendment 5 also passed by a sure margin, with 1,967 voting for and 1,178 voting against. Amendment 5 called for counties and cities bordering on the Gulf of Mexico to be able to issue bonds for construction of sea walls and breakwaters.

A total of 619 persons cast ballots in the Canyon precincts. That number represents 10.91 per cent of the number of registered voters in the city.

The city voting followed the county-wide figures with the local voters casting ballots for the same four amendments.

City voters disapproved of amendment 1 by a vote of 344 to 267 while they downed

Liquor Vote Petitions Not Expected In Today

Petitions calling for a local option election in the Canyon area are due in today, but aren't expected to be turned in.

County Clerk LeRoy Hutton said today is the deadline for the petitions to be returned.

Charlie Cullen, West Texas State University student pushing the petition signing campaign in Canyon, expressed doubt Tuesday that enough signatures would be gained to warrant turning the petitions in for tabulating.

"There's not enough signatures," Cullen said. "I'm still holding out until tomorrow (Wednesday).

"But, we probably won't turn them in."

Cullen told The News last week he had only about 500 signatures. A total of 1500 signatures of registered voters were needed on the petitions to call the local option election.

Tuesday and Wednesday, the students' campaign went into overdrive with members of one WTSU fraternity seeking signatures just outside the Canyon polling place during the Tuesday special election.

Newspaper advertisements were also purchased supporting the idea of a vote on the local option issue.

Cullen took out the petitions a month ago to call an election to legalize the sale of all alcoholic beverages in Canyon including mixed drinks.

The Canyon precinct, which includes that portion of the county east of Umbarger and South of McCormick Road, is the only remaining dry precinct in Randall County. The Umbarger area voted itself wet last spring and the Amarillo precinct voted itself wet in November 1972.

"If they don't turn them in that's it," Hutton said

Sheriff Unenthusiastic About Police Merger

Randall County Sheriff Cliff Longest was all but enthusiastic Monday afternoon about the possibility of merging the sheriff's office with Canyon city police department.

Longest, saying such a combination would double the cost of his office, all but said he opposes the move, as he met with county commissioners to discuss the issue.

Commissioner Jim Fletcher initially proposed the merger several weeks ago and every week since then has reiterated his interest in the merger.

The sheriff said he believes he will not be able to eliminate any of the men necessary for the current operation of the police department and sheriff's office in a merged operation. The cost for his office would double.

"I can't see any point in it," he said. "I'm not ready for it, period."

Initially, Longest said he hasn't accumulated enough information to make a formal recommendation, but he said preliminary figures indicate that if such a merger were accomplished the county would have to assume the 11 policemen now working for the city of Canyon.

He said the budget for such an operation would be about $272,000 in 1974.

Longest said there is currently no duplication of services between the county and city law offices. He said city police handle investigations inside the city while the county deputies work outside the city.

Fletcher, undaunted by Longest's figures, said he envisions the city of Canyon contracting with the county for the service and expressed the hope that in doing so the city might be able to save some money.

He called for a comprehensive study of the proposal.

County commissioners have not talked with city officials about the proposed merger.

Commissioners instructed

City Veterans Due Breakfast

All Canyon veterans and their families are invited to the 51st annual veterans breakfast sponsored Saturday morning by the local American Legion post.

County Judge Woody Pond, post commander, will be heading the cooking team for the free breakfast. Serving begins at 7 a.m. and ends at 8:30 a.m. at the community center.

The most miserable man that I have known was richly endowed with worldly possessions — even including many friends that he had without being a friend in return.

Home Furnishings Taken From Site

About $1500 in home furnishings was stolen Monday night from two homes under construction in Hunsley Hills and local police fear the theft may portend the spillover into Canyon of a major crime problem in South Amarillo.

Burglars entered two unoccupied residences nearing completion in Hunsley Hills some time between 8 p.m. Monday and 9 a.m. Tuesday and took stoves, dishwashers, ovens, garbage disposals and wallpaper.

Police Lt. Tom Rolen said virtually the same items were taken from each house and each item was uninstalled and still packed in cardboard crating.

The houses are under construction at #6 and #8 Greenwood and are owned by Greenwood Investment Co. Carroll P. Vaughan notified police of the burglaries Tuesday morning.

Police Chief Al Stewart said his department is working with Amarillo police on the burglaries.

Randall County Commissioner Jim Fletcher ought to be writing comedy scripts.

His suggestion that Canyon city law enforcement should be combined with the county is so ridiculous it is downright funny.

This would mean that Amarillo would run Canyon's police force by sheer power at the ballot box. If this happens Canyon would be just as well off to ask Amarillo to annex us.

Then if the school district insists on hanging onto territory in the north part of the county until the WHOLE school board comes from South Amarillo, we might even talk local churches into becoming missions for their various denominations to the north and Amarillo could run the shebang.

If we're not smart enough for home rule, this might be a good course to take.

Gene Mayfield says he's not about to quit as head coach at West Texas State in spite of a gloomy season with the Buffaloes.

Gene came here with a five-year contract knowing that he had to shape the football future of the university. He must have realized that it was going to take time.

He has two more years on his contract and I want to see him get the unqualified support of the community for that two years. He says he'll have a winning team next year and I believe him.

Saw a cartoon last week that I wish someone would send Gene for the timely advice under the picture. It shows a racoon with two feet on the dock and two on a boat — a precarious position.

The caption reads: "Hang in there baby."

This might be good advice also for the President of the United States.

In spite of the pall of scandal that hangs over Washington, Richard Nixon has many things to his credit.

I think the President and the press could both take some advice from Nixon's first inaugural address in which he called for the nation to lower its voice.

There's no doubt that a segment of the press is out to get Nixon and Nixon is feeding the flame by some of his retorts.

The job of newspapermen and women is to inform the public. Sometimes this is lost in vendetta.

At a recent press conference Nixon recognized a reporter by saying, "I guess you're next because you are so loud."

"I have to be," the reporter replied. "You've been ignoring me."

"You've been heard the last three times," Nixon retorted.

This took up two or three minutes of television time and added nothing to the general knowledge of the public. It was childish and gave none of us any comfort in view of the fact that we're depending on one of the antagonists to rule us and the other to inform us.

One senior Washington correspondent turned to a colleague at the same press conference and remarked:

"We didn't lay a glove on him."

Does this sound like a reporter bent on getting information for the public or a man with a score to settle with the President?

I think it's time for us all to lower our voices.

Law enforcement people tell me that the use of narcotics in the Canyon community has reached frightening proportions. Some hard drugs such as cocaine are being used.

Police Chief Al Stewart says his department is not interested in jailing youngsters but in saving them.

Al has embarked on a campaign to contact parents whose youngsters are known to be involved. Some parents will be grateful. Some will be indignant.

Remember this, Chief Stewart doesn't have to visit with you about it. He could come with a warrant instead of a message.

For God's sake, listen to him!

City Accepts Proposal On Services By County

Eighteen thousand dollars was accepted by City Commissioners Monday night along with an exchange of services in a package proposed by county commissioners to end a months long discussion.

Only brief discussion preceded a positive vote on accepting the Randall County proposal of $18,000 annually for the trade of services.

The county proposal, approved by county commissioners in late October at the urging of Commissioners John Fulgenzi and Paul Lindsey, calls for the annual payment plus a trade. Under the proposal, the county would provide jail facilities and communication facilities and the city would provide dump ground service and rural fire protection.

Monday night's action was the climax of dispute which began almost a year ago when county commissioners virtually refused to purchase a $30,000 fire truck for the city to use in fighting rural fires.

City Manager George Loudder prepared a study early in the summer which indicated the city was losing money on its shared services deal with the county.

For about two months, Mayor Manly Bryan and City Commissioner Jim Christopher have been meeting with Fulgenzi and Lindsey in closed negotiation sessions to work out a compromise agreement.

Discussion Monday night centered only around putting the proposal into a contract for signing. City Attorney Elton Cox was so instructed.

City Commissioners had told The News last week they expected the measure to pass, terming the proposal adequate and a feasible amount.

In other business Monday, commissioners authorized HD&R architectural firm to begin development in the final phase for a new city civic center complex.

The action was only a formalization of informal authorization given two weeks ago, when representatives of HD&R presented final schematic drawings for approval.

The commissioners also eyed a proposed $8000 budget for next year for the Canyon Board of City Development. No action was taken on the request from Board Chairman Raymond Raillard.

Eight items were listed for expenditure for the board's second year of operation. Last year, the budget for the board was less than $4000.

Raillard in his budget request noted that 25,000 brochures were issued on Canyon and the area, a tabloid newspaper was issued with local attractions and several billboards have been purchased, all out of money allocated for the current year.

The board requests $1500 to reprint the city brochure, $500 for table mats for restaurants, $500 for a reprint of the city tabloid, $2000 for an industrial and tourist film, $1000 for industrial travel expense, $500 for a community profile update, $500 for postage and $1500 for contingency fund.

Four Arrested For Robbery In Lubbock

Four men, two of them wanted in Colorado for escaping from the Colorado State Reformatory, were arrested about 8:45 p.m. Tuesday about five miles south of Canyon on U.S. 287.

The four remained in Randall County jail Wednesday awaiting warrants to return them to Lubbock where they face charges of armed robbery.

Officers Reedy McDonald, Tom Rolen and J.B. Sexton arrested the four in a vehicle described by Lubbock witnesses as used in a Friday night armed robbery in that city.

Lubbock officers and witnesses came to Canyon Wednesday for a line-up of the suspects.

The Friday armed robbery allegedly netted $1800.

No formal charges have been filed against the four.

Local Shriner Bill Mayfield, left, readies to board the bus for Amarillo with several members of Kappa Alpha Order from West Texas State University. About 30 members of the fraternity gave blood to aid the Shrine Burn Institute in south Texas. Other WTSU fraternities have also given blood in the drive to replenish the institute's burn bank.

Grand Jurors Meet With Amarillo Group

Randall County Grand jurors, who met Monday afternoon with Amarillo city commissioners and other officials, are wrapping up their investigation apparently into the operation of the Amarillo Police Department.

Dist. Atty. George Dowlen said the investigation is drawing to a close, but refused once again to divulge the subject of the investigation.

Amarillo news media have speculated the grand jury is eyeing law service to the portion of Amarillo in Randall County.

That speculation was strengthened with Monday's session when Ed Fitzhugh, night dispatcher for the APD, met with the jury. Fitzhugh carried several thick folders of information into the grand jury room.

City commissioners Clay Briggs, Jerry Hodge, Windy Nicklaus and Houston Deford went into the grand jury room about 11:20 a.m. Monday and spent about 1½ hours talking with jurors.

Amarillo City Manager John Stiff met with the jury about 2½ hours Monday afternoon. He was not present during the jury's meeting with city commissioners.

Stiff told reporters he was asked to bring no figures with him to the grand jury.

At the last meeting of the jury, Amarillo Police Chief Paul Hulsey met with jurors.

The jury is scheduled to meet again Nov. 19.

Indictments were returned against four persons during the session.

Buffs Meet Tampa

Tampa's Spartans, featuring one of the nation's better defenses, will play West Texas State University's Buffaloes in a non-conference football game at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Frank Kimbrough Memorial Stadium.

The Spartans, who were open last week, were ranked 11th nationally in defense against the rush and 14th nationally in overall defense. They have allowed only 112.2 yards per game rushing and 239.4 total yards per game.

While Tampa is riding the crest of a four-game winning streak, the Buffs will be attempting to snap a three-game losing string.

Tampa has lost only 17-0 to Kansas State and holds wins over Toledo, 35-24; Xavier, 34-7; Akron, 21-7; Villanova, 17-10; Southern Illinois, 25-23; and Northern Michigan, 20-0.

Pacing the Veer-type of attack for the Spartans is quarterback Fred Solomon, who is probably the finest all-around signal-caller to be faced by the Buffaloes this season.

The 185-pounder has completed 49 of 107 passes for 683 yards and four touchdowns. In addition to his passing, he is the third leading rusher on the team. He has 415 net yards, has scored five touchdowns and averaged 4.4 yards per carry.

The Buffaloes will enter the game with an assortment of injuries. Running backs Billy Pritchett, Jimmy Lisle and Rick Schleider are all slowed to some degree by injuries.

Lisle, the team's top rusher, with 442 yards, received a hip-pointer and a pinched nerve against New Mexico State. Schleider was shaken up during the game and Pritchett is still not back at full speed from an early season knee injury.

Offensive tackle John Jacobi missed Saturday's game with a leg bruise and may not be ready to play this week. Junior letterman Ed Alford or converted guard Mike Delaney will take Jacobi's place should he not be ready. Jeff Loyd, the other offensive tackle, received a mild concussion against New Mexico State, but should be ready by Saturday night.

Henry Hamilton will start at center in place of Alton Cranford, who injured a knee last week in practice.

Safety Steve Sydow is still out of action with a bruised kidney and will be replaced by senior Daryl Carr. The 169-pound Carr was a starter at left safety until he injured a knee against Northern Illinois.

Buffalo coach Gene Mayfield may alternate quarterbacks Don Nava and Mike Wartes against Tampa. Wartes started last year, but lost his starting berth early in the season to Nava. Against New Mexico State, however, Wartes directed both Buffalo scoring drills and tossed 10 yards to John Paul Lee to climax one of those moves.

Tampa's top rusher is tailback Alan Pittman, who has rushed for 731 yards and a 5.6-yard per carry average. Fullback Ken Moorhead is second with 458 yards and a 4.7-yard average.

Split end Mark Wakefield, a 6-4, 195-pounder, leads the Spartans in receiving with 18 catches for 309 yards.

CHS Season Ends Against Mules

It's been a long season for Canyon's Eagles and that season comes to a close, hopefully a victorious close, as the Eagles meet the Muleshoe Mules at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Kimbrough Stadium here.

For the Eagles of Ron Mills, the season will end with the loss side of the ledger overwhelming the win side no matter what the outcome of Friday night's game. The Eagles go into the game with two wins and a tie.

But, Mills believes his team has performed admirably throughout the season and has improved with each outing and while the win-loss record may not be good, he feels the morale of the team is unbeatable. The moral defeats have been few in a season which saw the Eagles beaten by three AAAA teams which are now leading their respective districts.

Probably the most bitter loss of the season was last week's loss to the Perryton Rangers by a slim 3-point margin, 20-17.

For the Eagles, the loss put them out of contention for the district title.

Reviving the Perryton game, Mills commended all his players.

"Every kid on the field played the best he could," Mills said. "I was pleased with the kids' effort.

"They've grown up a lot," he said. "They grew up a lot during that last ball game.

"At the first of the year I thought we had some kids who wanted to win but maybe didn't know how. They found out you have to sacrifice a little."

The Eagles sweated blood against Perryton as they fought back time and again and the game ended with the Eagles threatening from their opponent's 13 yard line.

"We could have kicked a field goal and won on penetration, but it wouldn't have helped us since we lost to Levelland," Mills said, explaining why in the closing seconds of the game he chose to try for the winning touchdown rather than a tie.

"If we had to play again I don't know anything we'd change," he said.

Mills said he was particularly pleased with the team's defensive effort against Perryton, a team which runs the hard-to-stop Denver City offense. He noted the Rangers averaged 3.1 yards per carry and only broke for a 20-yard run once.

He was also pleased with the Eagle offense, sparked by the passing of Ed Lair. He noted the Eagles were responsible for only two turnovers.

Canyon's Friday night opponent, the Muleshoe Mules, preseason favorites for the district title, will also be an explosive offensive team.

Mills said the Mules have a good passer and an all-district running back who Eagle defenders will be watching.

While the Mules were picked to win the district, Mills said their action has been hurt by the injury of several key players.

"They'll be larger than we are," he said.

The Mules run from the wing-T formation and throw in a few runs from the I.

The Eagles remain fairly healthy going into their final season outing.

John Denton, starting left defensive tackle, has undergone surgery for torn ligaments in his knee and will not see action.

Brad Martin, key pass receiver and defender, has a badly sprained ankle and running back Gary Bednorz has an injured arm, but Mills expects both to see action Friday night.

"The morale is as good as it's ever been since I've been here," Mills said. "They've lost some games but they have the pride and character to stick together. Not a single boy has quit and we've improved every week."

Jowell 4-H Club Met Last Friday For Spook Party

The Jowell 4-H Club held a Halloween party last Friday. Men in the group competed in a pumpkin carving contest, and mothers got together to make a haunted house for the kids.

A cake walk, dart throwing, apple bobbing, and other games were played.

Mrs. Bob McCasland and Mrs. Gary McRoberts tied for the award in the parents' masquerade, and James Irlbeck and Gary Hinders won in the members' contest.

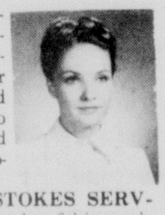
GENE HOWE NEWS

Many Thank Yous From The PTA

By TROYCE MULHERIN

Thank You, Beautiful People, Greetings:

GENE HOWE'S PARENT-Teacher Association sends a great Big "Thank You" to all who came to the annual chili supper last Friday night at the school. Double "Thank You's" go to those who not only came and ate out also helped. Lots of eager eaters and pleasant "workers" contributed to a successful and enjoyable evening! Gene Howe moms and dads cheerfully pitched in and helped in whatever way necessary to insure this rating of "successful." Several of our youngsters did double duty, too — welcome and effective helpers.



BETTYE STOKES SERVED as head honcho of this year's supper, and she did a marvelous job with her orderly preparations. Actually, there were just too many people involved to mention names here, including, but not limited to: the ladies who started cooking on Wednesday; the "set up" people; the serving people; and the clean-up crew. (Quite a few dads got in on this part of the show and went home with clean, white, wrinkled, water-logged paddypaws!).

CHILI SUPPER PRESALES ticket winners are as follows: In the kindergarten through third grades a total of 560 tickets were sold. Mrs. Hicks' room won the banana split party with the selling of 105 tickets. A first place award of $5.00 went to Darla Campbell, who sold a total of 36 tickets. Second place and $3.00 went to Galen Cogburn of Mrs. Trew's room. Galen sold 16 tickets. Third place resulted in a tie and awarding of $2.00 each to Todd Bufkin and Renee Clark, each of whom sold 15 tickets. Todd is in Mrs. Hicks' room, and Renee is in Mrs. Niemeier's room. Fourth place honors were shared by Michelle Arnett and Lori Rawls. Each of these young ladies sold 14 tickets and received a dollar each in award money. Michelle is in Mrs. Woodward's room, and Lori is in Mrs. Hicks' room.

IN THE FOURTH through sixth grade levels, a total of 837 tickets were sold during the presales. Mrs. Smith's room emerged as the winner of the banana split party with a total of 189 tickets being sold in that room. Shonda Palmer, of Mrs. Green's room, won high ticket sales honors, and first place, and $5.00 by selling 103 tickets! Second place and $3.00 went to Kelli Campbell, who ran a close race with her cousin by selling 99 tickets! Kelli is in Mrs. Smith's fifth grade room. Dena Harp, in Mrs. Taylor's fifth grade room, garnered third place and $2.00 by selling 39 tickets. Rusty Riley walked off with fourth place and $1.00 by selling 30 tickets. Rusty is in Mrs. Smith's room.

A GRAND TOTAL of 1397 tickets were sold during the presales. All by our youngsters, too! See what enthusiasm and determination will do? Great goin', youngsters! A financial breakdown of expenses, income and profit will be forthcoming shortly. It is most often best to have too much, rather than not enough. So, the leftover (but delicious) chili will be for sale to school patrons (or, whoever gets there first). You should be learning about this soon via letters brought home from the youngsters.

THE FIFTH AND sixth grade mixed football team co-coached by Bob and Dennis Trook garnered championship honors in their league! This team did not lose a single game all season. Great! Congrats, men.

THE FIFTH GRADE team coached by Wes Bromley, Jim Riley and Ken Wallace earned sportsmanship rating in its league. This sportsmanship award is determined by vote of all members and coaches of the various league teams. Two teams are chosen in each league and play each other in the Toy Bowl.

THIS FIFTH GRADE team not only won sportsmanship and, therefore, the honor of playing in the Toy Bowl, it won the game! A score of 40-6 against Wolflin put a little more icing on the cake. Touchdowns were made by Rusty Riley, David Bromley, Scott Davis and Wayne Wallace. Conversions were by Larry Ray and David Bromley. Natch, all the team members played real well; and, most importantly of all, were complimented by the game officials for their play and sportsmanship - like attitude. Following the game, each youngster received a patch for the ol' jacket and team pictures.

THIS ABOUT WINDS up the football for the youngsters — no more bench warming for mom and dad. No more sun in the eyes, rain on the hair-do, or wind in the face. Now, we get to sit around in warm (hopefully) gyms for the basketball thing.

THAT WELL-KNOWN snakypoo is no more. Alas! The Webelos of Pack 130 cooked and consumed the little darlin' last weekend during a cookout at the Bill Edward's home. (They made some corn fritters for the few queasy, uneasy scouters — helped to get the snakypoo down). Each youngsters ate "some" of him, and reports are that snakypoos have a flavor similar to chicken to some and fish to others.

SARAH EDWARDS PERFORMED above and beyond the call of duty for Scouting moms. "Right after breakfast," she found herself with the dubious honor of prying the "filets" (frozen to boot) apart so same could thaw in time for the cookout. Yurk! Or, was that word "yummy?"

HALLOWEEN PARTIES WERE the order of the day last Wednesday at Gene Howe. Contrary to popular opinion, there was only one mom serving as the witch. (More than one youngster was definitely sure that she belonged at his/her house!). Not so, even if most moms come across as witches to their offsprings. On Wednesday, at the school, in the witchy get-up, Evelyn Foster, was the one and only.

SPEAKING OF HALLOWEEN — that Haunted House sponsored by the Canyon Band Parents Association was great! (Scary, too). Actually, words cannot express the horrors lurking therein! Grown-up types had as good a time as the younger set. The concession stand was the end (thankfully, personally speaking) of the road. Sure was fun to watch slightfully embarrassed moms and dads trying to compose themselves at this spot in the action. Delayed reactions found a lot of us laughing at ourselves all the way home. Really, this project was the greatest!

A LOT OF advance preparations and even more fine acting contributed to an unforgetful evening. Have taken a blood oath not to reveal the identities of some of the cast (they want to come back next year incognito). But, will share the names of some of the delightful (?) characters. The laughing witch is a no no. In the living room, Pat Seth, Monet Merriman, Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Woods, Mrs. Tankersly, Mrs. Bonds, Bart Solbrig, the Merriman children and the J.T. Woods children, all did their "thing," in various parts and on various nights.

HARLEY AND LAWANA Sallee, Pete Solbrig, Blair Garner and Tyra Solbrig held forth in the kitchen. The doctor's office found Mike Word, Brad Garner, Shern Solbrig, Tammy Sallee, Ken Cates, Sherrie Manning, Cody Patterson and Phillip Tucker, performing in completely unforgiveable roles.

MARK COLLIER DID a remarkable job in his role of ?????? Diana Davis was a horrible hag. Brian Garner was there too, as ?????? And, Don Pigg was seen lurking in the cemetery. D.J. Lewis had a back problem, and, who was that dreadful mummy?

ROSEMARY RAMAEKERS WAS there, and Terri Reynolds could be found in the lab. Vampire blood, watery eyeballs, etc., were dispensed at the concession by Ada Solbrig, Mary Russell, Faye and Charles Pigg, Eloise Thompson, Roma Johnson, Mary Wilcox and Ann Shell.

DUE TO THE fact that some of us have enough problems without subjecting ourselves to the likely possibility of having to contend with a spell of some sort, this list of characters is incomplete. The names of a lot of people, who worked their little black hearts out, will not be found here — they will be found at the House of Horrors tho, next year. Oh, yeah, being greeted at the door by Marilen Garner and Ada Crager should have tipped some of the less-wary off about the scares to come. If that witch wasn't enough for the weak-of-knee, the maze was. Uncle. You go next year too, or again. Great!

MUST GO STEADY my nerves — just thinking about it.

THANKS FOR THE use of the hall.

Troyce — 352-6053 (early morning or evenings)

Pledges and actives of Zeta Tau Alpha got together last Thursday for an ice cream social at the Yum Yum Tree to present scholarship awards to some of the members. Scholarship Chairman, Anne Ashby, top left, presented awards for Highest Pledge Grade Point to Marcia Tiefel, top right, front left and center, Ann Starr, Little Sis, and Susan Dollar, Big Sis, were awarded Highest Grade Point for Big Sis-Little Sis, and Jan McGill, front right, had the most study hours for a pledge.

Locals Win Matches In Tourney

Four of seven Canyon Boxing Club boxers won their bouts last weekend at a local tournament.

Mike Murrell won a decision over Mike Jackson of the Hereford Boxing Club. Ted Clement won a TKO over his opponent, Edmond Smith of Hereford.

Robert Johnson won a decision over Barry Jackson of Hereford. And, Denny Bridges won a decision over Martin Lucero of Hereford.

Johnnie Johnson of Canyon was decisioned by Danny Hernandez of Hereford. Joe Doss was downed by Gilbert Castillo with a TKO and Randy Johnson was decisioned by James Sherman of Lubbock.

The local boxing club has opened its gym for the season at 801 23rd Street. The gym opens for workouts at 4 p.m. daily.

Area Folks Take Trip

By MILDRED TURNER

EIGHTEEN PEOPLE FROM this area went to Six Flags over the weekend. From all reports they had a ball. Those in the party were the Webbs, Lindseys, McDonalds, Belva Winters and Sheree Turner. They were racing on the large slide, the men winning when Judy accidentally slipped off the pad they give you to sit on and she shot way out in front of everyone. She discovered the secret of the men winning. That polyester knit sure speeds up everything!

WE CUT A little more maize, froze some mustard greens and scribbled this little poem this week. What did you do?

THE NUMBER IS the same, 622-0701.

WORDS

Did you ever stop and think
How words affect our lives?
Words can lift us up . . .
Or bring us down in strife.

Our vocabulary may be limited . . .
Misunderstood tones may not be few;
Our lives portrayed on life's screen.
Soft words help clear the view.

"Actions speak louder than words," they say
Words also make up our day . . .
Words can be rays of sunshine, true,
Drab, sad, whining or blue.

There are cold, sharp words, cutting deep,
There are caressing, loving, soft whispers to keep.
Lives, otherwise beautiful and fair,
Can be ruined by ugly words slung in the air.

Jesus' words are "spirit and life"
Our words can be peace and light,
If our hearts are pure and white
Our words can become a delight.

I am not an artist with brush in hand,
Who can paint all the beauty of the land;
I become silent, words cannot describe
This beauty, this elated feeling I get inside.

"From the abundance of the heart" words are spoken,
Hearts are comforted, hearts are broken;
So let's prayerfully examine each night and day
More carefully watch the words that we say.

A letter to a loved one, "selected" books from the shelf.
These words are a portrayal of our inner self.
"By our words we'll be justified or condemned,"
Our words will be remembered . . .
When other memories grow dim.

Need Candy?

By TOOTIE BYBEE

HELLO ONCE AGAIN and would you like to buy a box of Camp Fire Candy?? Our sale is in full swing and I haven't had time to do anything except run a bunch of little girls around trying to sell their candy. In fact did such a good job of selling that the night of the chili supper I was trying to make time connections and went off and left one of my sweeties in Canyon and had to go back and get her and she was selling candy. Was late getting to the chili supper but got everyone home safe and sound. Many of the girls are trying to win some of the prizes offered this year in the sale so hope you will give them a boost and buy two or three boxes of chocolates from one of the girls, don't mind much myself if their last name is Bybee either. We have Queen Bees, (roasted almonds with creamy carmel), Mints, Assorted with pastels and a new one this year, Peanut Crunch, which is my very favorite in a vacuum sealed can. So, if you aren't asked and want some candy call 622-1471 and we will deliver.

HAD LOTS OF birthdays this week, with lots of celebrating!! Happy Birthday to Lora Lee Laird on the 5th. Happy birthday to Mr. Garland Cox who was treated in a big way to a birthday dinner with lots of family to wish him cheers. Joining the Cox's to help celebrate were their children, the Wendell Trammells and children, the Pete Wilsons and children and their sons, Max and Mark. So hope this was a really special day for him. Also, two birthday boys celebrated together on Halloween night, Dale Whitehead and John Brooks. The families had birthday supper at the Whitehead's with party trimmings and then the boys went trick or treating together.

THERE HAS BEEN football in the air and all around. Matt Malson was on the 5th grade team that got to participate in the Toy Bowl Sunday afternoon. Mark Cox was honored with a trophy as the most valuable player on the 5th and 6th grade mixed team coached by Mr. Trook. Really proud of Mark.

SAID A FEW words last week about the spook house but the paper deadline came before the actual event took place and just have to say something about it all. We could not believe the turnout for the spook house. The Camp Fire girls were just so very, very, appreciative of all who came by. We could not believe it, there were people everywhere. The fun house was full all the time and so was the Spook House. We had not really expected such a bunch of people. It just always leaves me with such a warm feeling for the people of this community when they support us like this and you always do!! We have never been dissappointed yet. Thanks from the bottom of our hearts. We counted between 80 to 100 going through as we lost count.

WANT TO ADD another special thanks to some others I didn't mention last week that helped us. Betty Malson who donated bagged popcorn for us to sell, also, DeAnn Cooper who did the same, Ann Tow who donated a large box of lollipops for prizes and all who paid their ten cents to enter the "House of Horrors." We love you all people.

SAW MANY A friendly face from our community at the chili supper. Was so glad to see and speak with Mr. and Mrs. Hall. Such nice people and sometimes we don't always get around to seeing all our neighbors but do think of them often. Saw the Malsons, Coopers, Whiteheads, and batch of others. There were a few we missed seeing this year but their kiddoes are in Junior High now and they didn't make it for the good ole chili feed.

HOPE THIS FINDS all the Morgans back to feeling lots better. Also, Stormie Moreland, my sweet friend hope you are better, and Kay Tow I hope you feel real good now.

THE THURSDAY LADIES Club met at Blanche Hudson's home Thursday and began their study of the book "Gracious Woman" with Joyce Minor as moderator. Was glad to see such a nice large group out and hope to see you next week at Marge Morgan's.

WANT TO THANK those very sweet people who took two of my kitties. Would you believe one of them got put in a trick or treat bag?? Not really but almost. Little Jackie Williams decided to give Cinnamon a good home for keeps. The other one went to a sweet little Blue Bird in Siesta Mobile Home Park. Still have three tabbies just waiting for you!!

IT's BASKETBALL TIME again so you kiddoes call in your scores and all and I will put them in for you all.

HELLO TO PRECIOUS Mattie Moreland who bought three boxes of candy from my little ones. Thanks, Thanks.

WISH I HAD more news but I don't as all I've done is sell candy so will do better next week. If you can't get me call again about 10:00 at night. See ya next time.

Sausage Festival Sunday

By REBA RAEF

NEXT SUNDAY, NOV. 11, is our German Sausage Festival. We will be prepared to serve a delicious dinner to all who come to eat with us. We will make the sausage today and peel the potatoes Saturday afternoon. We are hoping that we will have nice weather for the Festival. We will start serving at 11 a.m. and will serve until 4 p.m. The Country Store and the Bazaar will both open at 11 o'clock. There will also be a drawing and you may get tickets any time Sunday. In the evening, there will be a dance, with Tiny Lynn and his Band playing. There will be German Sausage sandwiches served during the dance. So — ya'll come. We'll be looking for you.

THE CHILDREN OF Mr. and Mrs. Max Hoffman surprised their parents Sunday with a party in honor of their forty-fifth wedding anniversary. Card games and visiting provided the entertainment for the afternoon. Sandwiches and anniversary cake were served to the honored couple and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Klueskens and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hoffman, from Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. LaDean Adams and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Adams and family, Mr. and Mrs. Darroll Adams and family and Harroll Adams, from Umbarger; Mr. and Mrs. Max Hoffman, Jr. from Amarillo. Our belated "Happy Anniversary" to the Hoffmans.

THE UMBARGER 4-H club would like to ask those who haven't brought their aluminum beverage cans to the Bernard Hartman residence yet, to please bring them in the next week or ten days. They also would like to say "Thanks" to all who have helped them with this project.

THE DAY OF Retreat for the C.Y.O., will be held Sunday, Nov. 18. Father Ken Keller, from St. Mary's, in Amarillo, will conduct the Retreat.

THE C.Y.O. WILL offer a Mass of Thanksgiving, on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 22. They will choose the prayers and the songs for the Mass and will be in charge of decorating the Church that day. It will be a beautiful service, as the young people really put forth a lot of effort and do a fine job.

WE WOULD LIKE to say "Happy Birthday" to the Adams boys, Carroll, Darroll and Harroll, who celebrated their thirty-second birthday last Tuesday, Nov. 6.

THE DON RAEF'S came down Saturday and Gracie helped me can 72 quarts of sauerkraut. We plan to sell part of it in the store.

MIKE AND MARGARET Browder invited us out for dinner last Sunday, to celebrate Lewie's birthday. Les Goodin and Mary also went with us. It was a most enjoyable evening.

LET'S ALL GO to the Canyon High School Choir Fall concert, to be held tonight in the high school auditorium. Two Umbarger students are in the choir, Elaine Ramaekers and our Kevin. We really enjoy listening to the choirs sing.

CONGRATULATIONS TO STEVE Friemel. He is a member of the F.F.A. team, representing Canyon Junior High, who took first place in a Parliamentary Procedure quiz, in Dumas. The team will go on to district to compete. More on this later. Steve is the son of R. D. and Mary Theresa Friemel.

WE WILL HAVE a display of the Christmas wrapping paper, bow makers etc., that the Canyon Band Parents are selling this year, in our store, so, come by and have a look and we will order it for you. This will help the band to make the trip to Anaheim, Calif., and we know the Band will appreciate your generosity.

WELL, THAT'S ABOUT it for this time. If you have news for my column, please call me at 499-2164.

WT Class To Host Senior Citizen Party

The Community Recreation Class at West Texas State University is planning, as a class activity, to have a Christmas Party for senior citizens Dec. 6. Mrs. Mary Hill is class instructor and the class is under the Health and Physical Education Dept. of WTSU.

A Halloween party for under privileged children was the latest project completed by the class.

The course is designed to help students be community leaders. For the Christmas party, the SPRY Club of the First United Methodist Church and a group from the YWCA in Amarillo have been invited. A ballroom in the Student Union Bldg. on the WTSU Campus has been selected for the party.

A spokesman for the class relayed that all plans have been made for the party except refreshments. Since this is a class involved in a course of study at WTSU, there are no available funds for refreshments, and the class must rely on donations.

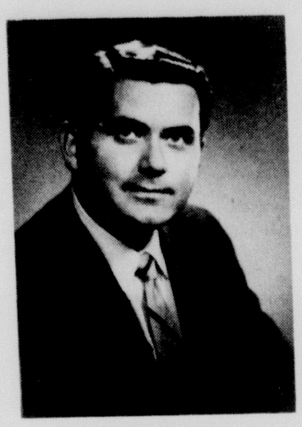
Huddleston Heads Bank

Jack Huddleston is the new president of Western National Bank located in north Randall County following purchase of that institution by an Amarillo group last week.



Jack Huddleston

Huddleston was the founder of Panhandle Savings & Loan having resigned that position Sept. 5.

He is immediate past president of Texas Savings & Loan League and served as general chairman of the Inter-America Savings & Loan Conference held last January.

A graduate of Hardin Simmons University, Huddleston is former Potter County Republican Chairman and served in the military as a Marine.

Elected to the Western National board of directors in a special meeting last week were Roy Whittenburg, Joe D. Whittenburg, Franklin Jeffers and Huddleston.

Other members of the board include Dr. Roy Dougherty, Robert Holt, Wesley Quinn and Tom Seay.

El Chicano Club To Sponsor Film

A film focusing on the problems of the Mexican-American will be the second offering in a series of programs sponsored by the West Texas State University El Chicano Club and the United Campus Ministry.

"Mexican-American: An Invisible Minority," a 30-minute documentary, will be presented at 5 p.m. Sunday at the Methodist Student Center. A short discussion session will follow the screening, a spokesman said.

The film presentation is the second in a series of programs being offered through the month of November that will study the cultural, sociological and historical backgrounds of Mexican-Americans.

The first presentation featured Dr. Jaime Quintanilla, director of Killgore Children's Psychiatric Center in Amarillo.

Other programs are slated Nov. 18 and Dec. 2.

Dancers Elect Officers

The Canyon Capers Square Dance club danced Monday night to the calling of Knox Day and Leroy Pitt called a tip.

New officers elected that night were President, Bob and Virginia Costley; vice president and reporter, Noble and Ruth Brown; secretary-treasurer, Frank and Helen Ham; social chairman, Lewis and Betty Thomas; PSDA representatives, Lewis and Margaret Tucek; and club sweetheart for 1974 is Ruth Brown. These officers will take over their duties on Dec. 1.

A club spokesman stated that the new students are progressing nicely with the square dance lessons being given by the club.

Everyone is invited to dance with the club at 8 p.m. every Monday in Room 125 of the Activities Center at West Texas State University.

JV Wins Again Versus Dumas

The Canyon High School junior varsity continued its winning ways last week with a win 14-0 over Dumas.

Allen Shankles ran a four-yard run for the first junior Eagle score with Rusty Holliday kicking the 1-point conversion during the first quarter.

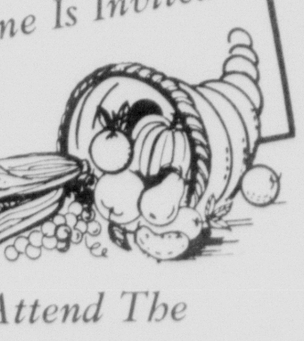
Stan Prichard ran 47 yards in the fourth quarter nabbing a punt and running it back all the way to paydirt for the second and final Eagle touchdown. Again, Holliday made the conversion.

Most valuable offensive lineman was Jimmy Foil with other honors going to Stan Prichard as outstanding offensive back, Bob Lee as outstanding defensive lineman and Stan Prichard as outstanding defensive back.

Prichard led the jv with 83 yards rushing, followed by Ron Mills with 54 yards and Kenny Basinger with 40 yards. Holliday had a 37-yard average with six punts.

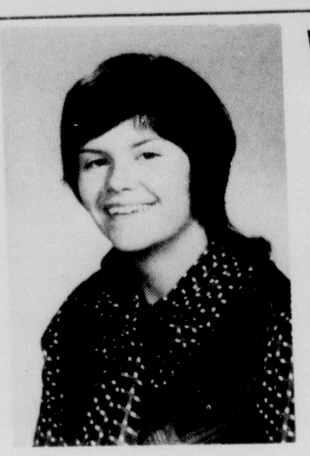
Russell Scott and Foil led the jv defense with five tackles each, followed by Bob Lindsey, David Coronado and Holliday with four each.

Other outstanding efforts were put in by Coronado with an intercepted pass, Terry Martin with a blocked punt, and Kenny Basinger with a recovered fumble.



BAYLOR

Former Canyon High School standout Bill Moore, son of Dr. and Mrs. Dudley Moore, is playing wingback and handling all kicking chores this year for the Baylor University freshman team, the Cubs. Moore is a freshman student at Baylor majoring in pre-med.



Karen Russell of Canyon has been named coordinator of the West Texas Nursing Student Association at West Texas State University. Miss Russell was recently elected. She is a senior. Sue McCright of Canyon was named vice-coordinator. The NSA was organized to promote pre-professional activities for WTSU nursing students.

Roberta Rhodes

City Airman Is Assigned To Keesler

Airman Roberta E. Rhodes, daughter of Mrs. Dollie L. Allen, 1408 Fourth St., has been assigned to Keesler AFB, Miss., after completing Air Force basic training.

During her six weeks at the Air Training Command's Lackland AFB, Tex., she studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

The airman has been assigned to the Technical Training Center at Keesler for specialized training in the administrative field.

Airman Rhodes, a 1971 graduate of Canyon High School, attended Clarendon Junior College.

Variety Ring Club Has Regular Meet

Mrs. Alice Black was hostess to the Variety Ring Club last Friday for a regular meeting.

Club president, Mrs. Ann Weaver, presided over the business meeting. Roll call was answered by the members telling what they did for Halloween.

After the business meeting, the social hour included many forms of hand work, several readings were given, and the exchange of secret pal gifts.

The guessing box made its rounds, but no one guessed what was in it.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to one guest, Mrs. Arthur Olson, and the following members, Mesdames Jewell Marshall, Lyda Matsler, Laura Hartman, Jettrew Winters, John Jennings, Margaret Cole, Eula B. Harding, Daisy Neal, Mae Johnson, Modena Barker, Ann Weaver, Iva Priddy, Nancy Boyce, Alice Black and Roxie Hammons.

The next meeting will be a luncheon Nov. 16 at Furr's cafeteria on 45th in Amarillo. Mrs. Nancy Boyce will be hostess and members are to meet at the home of Mrs. Jettrew Winters by 12:30 p.m. to travel to Furr's.

News Brief

Arts and Entertainment Through the Looking-Glass

By ANN MELIN

That West Texas State University is staging a work of the Theatre of the Absurd genre this week would be noteworthy in itself. But "Fables" stands out as an extraordinary presentation not only because it is in the avant-garde idiom, but because it is the work of a West Texas State University graduate.

Jerry McDonough II, who holds bachelors and masters degrees from WTSU, is the author of "Fables," a provocative trilogy of dramatic pieces in the absurdist vein.

The play will be presented Saturday for high school students attending the Interscholastic League preparatory meet on the WTSU campus. Showtime is 10 a.m. in the Intimate Theatre of the Fine Arts Building.

Another staging of "Fables" is scheduled at a meeting of the Buffalo Masquers Club at 8 p.m. Monday, Nov. 19 in the Intimate Theatre. Also scheduled for production that evening will be a shortened version of Lawrence and Lee's "Inherit The Wind."

The WTSU premiere of "Fables" is under the direction of WTSU senior Ron Williams, a talented young man and a veteran of numerous Branding Iron Theatre performances. The play is one of several laboratory theatre productions under the direction of WT students to be presented this year.

"Fables" begins and ends "in a vacuum," according to its author. A barren stage confronts the viewer both at the outset and the conclusion of the play.

The action begins when a troupe of actors reminiscent of Commedia del'Arte players file into the theatre armed with costumes and stage props. One of the most unusual aspects of "Fables" is its utilization of Bertolt Brecht's "alienation effect," whereby actors do not lose their essential "actorness." Rather, the players are thrice-removed from reality. They are actors portraying actors who are themselves acting out roles. When not on stage, the actors form part of a musical ensemble consisting of drums, cymbals and wind chimes.

The first tale, "Clowns," deals with human beings frittering away their lives, putting off everything until an ever-elusive tomorrow, according to director Williams.

"Bogey," the second work in the trilogy, focuses upon a man knawed by some kind of inchoate fear trying to run away from society, Williams said.

The third piece, "Drums" makes the most "blatant statement," according to McDonough. Presented in black comedy style, "Drums" pans in on the absurdity of war and warmongers.

Facing each other in dubious battle are the Alpha and Bravo armies. The infantrymen, however, are but the dispensable pawns in an elaborate game of body count one-upmanship being played by the two army leaders.

The cast for "Fables" includes Doug Stewart of Amarillo, Shelly Hamrick of Dallas, Randy Clements of Hereford, Terry Wilkes of Meador, Russ Chisum of Dalhart, Bily Black of El Paso, Julie Brantley of Canyon and Pam Hurst of El Paso.

How could WTSU have spawned Jerry McDonough?

Sitting behind the desk at which he composes his dramas, McDonough was visibly perplexed by the question. And I was considerably chagrined at having asked it.

It was just that one so rarely finds a former WTSU student engaged in writing plays in the theatre of the absurd vein.

McDonough feels indebted to those teachers under which he studied at WTSU. He refers to writer-in-residence Loula Grace Erdman as his "principal mentor." He regards Dr. A.K. Knott — "that classically-based Will Rogers" — as an inspiration. He also cites Kathleen Collins of the WTSU English department as a principal influence on his career.

Not everything McDonough writes is in the absurdist idiom. Among other things he writes tragi-comedies, domestic tragedies and has even penned a rip-snortin' melodrama, "A Stretch At the Galluses," which was staged by the Amarillo Little Theatre.

McDonough is also a former editor of the Pioneer Natural Gas newspaper, a frequent magazine and journal contributor and a drama coach at Caprock High School in Amarillo. And he's one of those men who carries a little black notebook in his pocket to jot down ideas and thoughts as they come to him.

If one considers the fact that about six one-thousandth of the plays written in the world each year are ever staged, then one can see that McDonough has already chalked up an impressive production record.

"The Betrothed," a McDonough work written in "stream of consciousness" style, was produced last February at the University of Oklahoma. The play was recently accepted by the prestigious Samuel French publishers.

Another work, "Filiation," a domestic tragedy involving a family living in a totalitarian state, was first staged at Tascosa High School. Last February, the work was accepted for publication by I.E. Clark Publishing Co. of Schulenburg, Tex.

One of his most ambitious works of late is a piece entitled "Americamus," in which McDonough purports to depict the entire history of civil rights in America — in pantomime.

Asked whether all of his works have received performance or publication, McDonough opened his desk drawer and produced an envelope full of — you guessed it — rejection slips.

"You can tell how far your script got by reading the slips. If they're short and sweet, they probably didn't get past first base. If they're longer, then they perhaps received more serious consideration," McDonough said, adding that he was particularly proud of a full-page rejection notice from Playboy Magazine.

Recently, McDonough has been studying new trends in children's theatre and is hoping to write an article on the subject.

Last year, McDonough directed his students at Caprock in a children's theatre production which was presented in several of the Amarillo public schools.

Children comprise a playwright's "most imaginative audience," McDonough says. They're the ones most likely to acquiesce in that "willing suspension of disbelief" that Samuel Taylor Coleridge once called for, he adds.

And yet, McDonough says that children's productions are usually staged in elaborately-costumed, glitter-and-tinsel productions that leave little to the imagination of young audiences.

Acting on the hunch that children will "fill in the details" if given the bare bones of a story, McDonough costumed his Caprock players in levis and T-shirts and staged a whimsical potpourri in which the actors portrayed astronauts and a Barnum and Bailey menagerie of lions, giraffes, tight-rope walkers, clowns and jugglers.

A week later, the director got some extremely satisfying feedback from his young audiences. Asked to draw their impressions of the Caprock show, the children conjured up pictures of giraffes that looked like giraffes, clowns that looked like clowns and astronauts in full spacesuit regalia depicted against a detailed lunar background.

"None of the kids drew pictures of teenagers in levis and T-shirts," McDonough said.

It's just that child-like propensity to "fill in the spaces," that McDonough hopes to elicit from his more mature audiences who view his experimental productions.

Candy Sales Begin

Canyon High School's Home Economics and Related Occupations (HERO) club is sponsoring a candy sale, according to club sponsor Janice Perkins.

The two-week candy-selling drive is being undertaken to earn money for an employer-employee banquet scheduled this spring, Mrs. Perkins said.

About 29 students are involved in the door-to-door sales. The boxes of 40 chocolate-covered peanut butter cups sell for $1 each.

The candy sales began Monday and will continue through Friday, Nov. 16.

Tailgate Picnic For Pre-Game Warm-Up

By CAROL YOUNG

In case anyone is interested in football, (don't stop reading now, please) there is a way to beat the traffic to the stadium and still eat a square meal before game time. Hot dogs and popcorn for supper have gotten a little old by now haven't they? Besides, many people don't even get a chance at a hog dog because the concession stand runs out before half-time, and the football nut won't go during the game. This nifty idea will spark (hopefully) new enthusiasm and will work even if the new student seating arrangements require that one be present early to insure his getting a seat.

The idea is called a tailgate picnic. No, the main course is not tails and gates or tailgates, the name originated from the use of a stationwagon tailgate as a smorgasbord or picnic table. However, a stationwagon is not mandatory for a tailgate picnic, a truck picnic or hood picnic will do just as well.

This is how it works, get a group of friends together, or a group of enemies to make it interesting, and everyone bring a different item in the line of sandwich fixings. It would be best to have a pow-wow on who is bringing what to avoid ending up with pickles and bread for a meal. For example, Joe and Sally could bring bread and mayonnaise or mustard, Jim and Sue could bring sandwich fillings, someone else chips and another couple could bring soft drinks (remember the stadium parking lot is school property and beer does not classify as a soft drink).

Next, all members of the group meet at one car and bring their contributions. All that is left is the actual act of making the sandwiches. Viola. . . beats a cold chili dog any day.

For those in the crowd that don't care for sandwiches, the possibilities are limitless. Families or married students might find bringing hot food a little easier than the non-marrieds. Really, if a guy doesn't know his date very well, it might be embarassing to ask her to whip up something to bring for a picnic. Then again, if impressing a date is the favorite line he uses, he could pick up a bucket, barrel, or dinner for two to go.

Now that fried chicken has been mentioned, that's a great idea. Most people like fried chicken and it usually doesn't matter if it is hot or cold. Baked beans or the like could easily be kept hot with a little care to use as a side dish along with a salad of some kind. Get someone to bring a loaf of bread and there it is, a chicken dinner picnic style.

Leftover roast or turkey depending on the time of year makes a good tailgate picnic sandwich item. Cakes and pies could be another item to make the picnic really complete. On the pies, it might be a little more thoughtful to exclude messier pies like fruit pies or meringue pies to help out the sloppy eaters in the group. Pumpkin pie is popular this time of year and as a rule, pumpkin pie is not runny or gooey. That depends on who makes it, however.

If the weather looks like it is going to pull a fast cold one on game night, chili would be perfect and easy to boot. All that would have to be done would be to put a lid on the pot, grab the potholders, turn off the fire, and go. Setting the pot in a cardboard box would help the lucky person who gets to hold it stay chili-less and unburned. A whole pot of chili is probably not going to get cold on the short drive to Kimbrough Stadium, that is if the trip is made from Canyon or somewhere fairly close by. Get someone in the group to bring crackers or whatever else might be desired and once again, here is a good hot meal to carry the football fan through the game and boost his waning spirit.

In addition to the sharing of food and the responsibility of bringing part of the meal, members of the group can share good fellowship and cheer. If that's not their bag, they could always argue about politics, religion, or what ever turns them on. This allows the tailgate picnic to be something for everyone.

Some people may think this whole idea is dumb. But, if no one bothers to try it, then they won't ever know what they missed.

Why bother to try it when no one plans to go to the ball game anyway? That's a good point, but there would be no reason to try a tailgate picnic unless there was a ballgame to attend. Look at it this way, students have already paid for their activities cards, likewise season tickets, and where else can people go on a Saturday night and yell and scream to their hearts content without being picked up for drunk and disorderly or disturbing the peace. Also, maybe the Buffs have had a hard time so far, but, no one can definitely say what they will do in the future.

Residents' Brother Dies

Funeral services were held Saturday in Paso Robles, Calif. for Grover Burton "Tex" Utz, 66, brother of Canyon residents Tommy Utz of Chapparel Villa and Mrs. Gladys Odom of 1702 8th Ave.

Utz died Oct. 30 at Paso Robles District Hospital. A resident of Paso Robles for the past 35 years, he was an electrical engineer and had worked for the H.P. Foley Co. at Diablo Canyon, Calif.

Born Feb. 6, 1907 in Marshall, Mo., Utz was a member of the Tanana Masonic Lodge No. 162 F. & A.M. in Fairbanks, Alaska, the Scottish Rite of Las Vegas, Nev. and a 35-year charter member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local Union No. 639.

Other survivors include his wife, Barbara Utz of the home, sons Jerry Utz and Ronald Andante, both of Paso Robles; a grandson; two other sisters, Lucille Newkirk of Amarillo and Virginia Moore of Salt Lake City, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were conducted in the Kuehl Chapel with the Paso Robles Masonic Lodge No. 286 F. & A.M. and the Rev. Ron France officiating. Burial was in the Paso Robles District Cemetery.

Memorials were directed to the Cancer Fund.

As of this week, top salesmen in the Future Farmers of America fruit-selling campaign are (left to right) Arvel Bolding, Rex Reynolds, Connie Owens and Alan Rozell. Sales continue through Nov. 27 and orders for 20 and 40-pound boxes of Rio Grande Valley grapefruits and oranges may be given to any local FFA student. Cost of the fruit is $5.50 for a 40-pound box or $2.75 for a 20-pound box. The fruit is expected to be delivered during the week of Dec. 17.

Sorghum Freeze Poses Danger To Area Cattle

County Agent John Brazzil warned area livestock producers to use caution while allowing cattle to graze all types of sorghum forages after a frost or freeze.

Brazzil said cattle are susceptible to poisoning by prussic acid, a potent poison which often develops in the sorghum plant at or shortly after the first frost or freeze.

Small grains such as wheat, rye and barley do not offer the hazard, but crops such as cane, sudan varieties and hybrids, johnsongrass and even grain sorghum pose a threat, he said.

He said cattle which graze on forage containing prussic acid can be poisoned by eating only a small amount of the forage and death usually results before treatment can be administered.

Brazzil recommended that livestock be removed from such fields containing sorghum forages until the forages are completely cured and dry after freezing. The curing or drying process usually takes a week to 10 days after the plants are killed.

Spirit Demonstrated By CHS Students In Chariot Race

Canyon High School students Doug Day and Jim Ray didn't win crowns of laurels in the chariot race they competed in Saturday at the Junior Classical Convention held at Amarillo High School. But they did come away with accolades for their performance in academic competition at the meet.

About 200 Latin students from all over Texas attended the convention. CHS was represented by 11 of the 16 students enrolled in the first year Latin class of Mrs. Mary Jane Reeves.

The all-day event included a roster of seminars, testing sessions and an Olympic Chariot race, held on the track field at Amarillo High School.

CHS junior Charlyne Moulton may look like Venus in blue jeans in this photograph, but it was the patron goddess Diana that she portrayed when she raced in an olympic chariot race Saturday afternoon at Amarillo High School. Pictured with the coed is Doug Day, who served as Miss Moulton's steed in the race. Also pulling the chariot, but not pictured, was Jim Ray.

Ray placed second and Day came in third in the reading comprehension examinations administered to first-year Latin students.

They didn't fare as well, however, in the chariot race due to unfortunate circumstances.

The duo had pulled the CHS chariot half-way round the field and had passed all other opponents when suddenly the conveyance fell apart, spilling its lone passenger, the patron goddess Diana (portrayed by CHS junior Charlyne Moulton). The celestial charioteer was somewhat dishevelled by the mishap, but otherwise unharmed.

Displaying herculean spirit, the two pullers then lifted the wheel-less chariot with their bare hands and hauled it the rest of the way around the field, crossing the finish line behind most (but not all) of the other competing chariots, according to Mrs. Reeves who referred to the whole incident as "screaming funny."

Prior to the race Mrs. Reeves had indicated some uncertainty as to the durability of the CHS chariot, which had been constructed last week from papier-mache, chicken wire and scrap lumber foraged from the Canyon Band Parents' Haunted House. The vehicle was not given a performance test before the big race, for the primary reason that the students who were building it were racing the clock to finish it in time for the event.

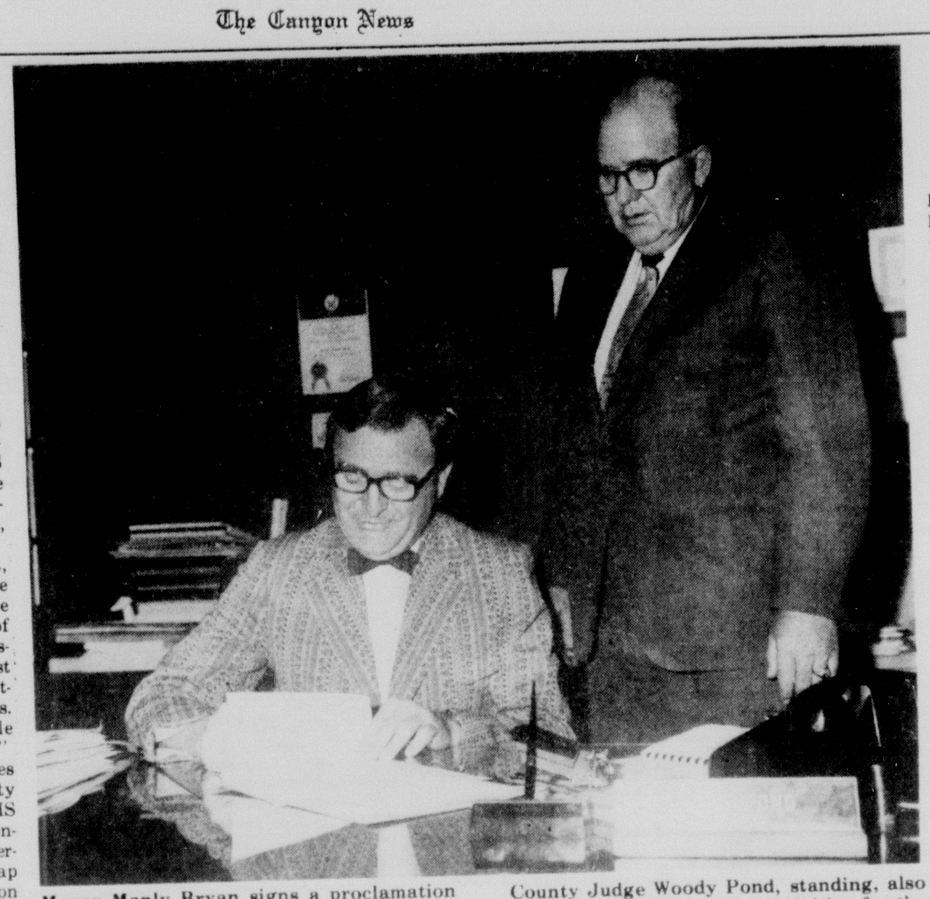
And none of the student builders had previous experience in chariot building, according to Mrs. Reeves.

Following the race, students participating in the annual convention attended a seminar featuring Dr. Edward George of the Texas Tech University classics department as guest speaker.

Among the judges in the competitive examinations was Dr. Walter Juniper, professor of English and Latin at West Texas State University.

Latin is being offered this year at CHS for the first time in several years, according to Mrs. Reeves. She added that CHS may join the Junior Classical League as a charter member in the future.

Other CHS students attending the meet were Wayne King, Becky Wallace, Elaine Smiley, Terry Allen, Cynthia Buckles, Gerry Lou Carruth and Kay Chitwood.



Mayor Manly Bryan signs a proclamation making November Randall County Food and Fiber Appreciation Month in Canyon. County Judge Woody Pond, standing, also signed the proclamation. Activities for the annual food and fiber fair begin next week.

Food, Fiber Fete Begins Next Week

November has been proclaimed Food and Fiber Appreciation Month in Canyon and Randall County.

County Judge Woody Pond and Canyon Mayor Manly Bryan signed a proclamation to that effect Tuesday.

The county's second annual appreciation celebration officially begins Nov. 14, but many county organizations and individuals are now working on projects for the showing.

City service clubs will hear special programs on county agriculture beginning late this week and continuing into next week.

Children at Rex Reeves, Gene Howe and Canyon Junior High School are now involved in poster-making contests sponsored by the women's division of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce.

The celebration will be Nov. 14, 15 and 16 with booths and exhibits on display at the Gene Howe School on Nov. 14, at Rex Reeves on Nov. 15 and at the junior high on Nov. 16. The exhibits will open at 9 a.m. each day and will continue only through school hours.

County organizations contributing exhibits include the Randall County Farmers Union featuring grain sorghum; the Palo Duro Soil and Water Conservation District featuring wise use of natural resources; Randall County Farm Bureau featuring wheat; the Dairy Producers groups featuring an educational exhibit and also manning the milk and cheese counter; the beef cattle producers and the CowBelles featuring the beef industry; pork producers featuring exhibits on pork production and giving away a ham and free pork loin; several farm wives featuring cotton and wool and natural fiber creations with the aid of Canyon retail merchants; and a new exhibit, the story of sugar from sugarbeets.

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce and the Canyon Study Club will be aiding in arrangements for the three-day event.

Although the school children will be the primary audience for the exhibits, all area residents are asked to attend.

Windbreak Trees Are Available Through Brazzil

The Texas Forest Service through the Randall County agent's office is now taking orders for seedling trees to be used to establish windbreak plantings.

Order forms are available in the county agent's office, according to John Brazzil.

Nine species of shrubs and trees are available this year and the cost is $3 per 100. Fruit trees and ornamental plant species are not included in the windbreak selections.

Brazzil said orders placed now will be delivered in March as long as supplies are available. Those desiring trees must make individual orders and the trees will be shipped prepaid to the growers at the proper time next spring. No bulk ordering or pooling of orders will be made, he said.

ADPi Alumnae Set Plans For Greek Friendship Night

The Canyon Alumnae Association of Alpha Delta Pi is planning a Greek Friendship night in conjunction with their regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Episcopal Student Center.

Mr. Sarpoluis, Registrar of Boys' Ranch, will present a special program.

Greek alumnae affiliated with a West Texas State University collegiate chapter of those affiliated as alumnae with a national social sorority not represented at WTSU are cordially invited to attend the friendship night meeting.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Mildred Cannon, Mrs. Marita Crowder, and Mrs. Carolyn Blackburn.

Tickets Available For PEP Luncheon

Tickets for the annual meeting and luncheon of the Panhandle Economic Program set Nov. 16 in Canyon, which will feature as keynote speaker Gov. Dolph Briscoe, are available in the office of County Agent John Brazzil.

The tickets are $3.50 each for the special buffet luncheon at noon on Nov. 16 at West Texas State University. Purchases should be made by Tuesday.

The day-long PEP program begins at 9:30 a.m. Nov. 16 and will feature other speakers and work sections other than the Briscoe speech at 1:30 p.m.

Maroon Madness Faces Brazilians In Basketball Season Opener Today

West Texas State University's young basketball team opens its season today in the WTSU Fieldhouse against a rugged Brazilian National basketball team.

The game is part of a nine-game tour by the Brazilian team to repay a tour made to that country this summer by an all-star group from the Missouri Valley Conference.

The MVC all-stars won eight of nine games against Brazilian teams, but were not playing a team made up of all-stars. The team which Brazil is bringing to the United States is said to compare with the same team which placed third in the 1972 Olympic Games and won the Pan American Games last year.

The MVC-Brazilian exchange is the second phase of the Partners of the Americas Inter-American Sports Exchange, which is now in its second year. The initial phase, which got under way during the summer of 1972, resulted in 19 U.S. basketball coaches traveling into Latin America to conduct clinics and work with Latin American teams.

Brazil's group of experienced players will be facing the young team of new Buffalo coach Ron Ekker. Only two starters are listed among the five lettermen returning from last year's WTSU club which won nine and lost 17.

Heading the group of Buffalo returnees are 6-8 Reginald Ramey and 6-7 Hector Rodriguez. Ramey scored 16.5 points per game last year and averaged 10.5 rebounds.

Rodriguez, who played for the MVC all-stars this summer on their tour of Brazil, scored 7.7 points and averaged 7.7 rebounds for the Buffs in 1972-73.

The remaining three lettermen — center Garry Francis, forward Rob Graham and guard Jay Benn — saw only limited playing time last year.

Ekker will depend strongly on four junior college transfers and three freshmen this season. The junior college transfers are 6-4 Joe Cosey, 6-7 Dana Albright, 6-2 Howard Taylor and 6-8 Dallas Smith.

The three freshmen who have been impressive in early drills are 6-6 Jim Conner, 6-1 Mark Mayberry and 6-4 Bob Miller.

The Buffalo coach will pick his starters later in the week. The Buffaloes have worked out only three weeks and won't open their regular season until Dec. 1 against Central Oklahoma State University.

Thursday's game is slated to start at 7:30 p.m. and it will be the only one of West Texas State's 16 home games to be played in Canyon. The remaining 15 games will be played in Amarillo's Civic Center Coliseum.

The game with Brazil is not counted on any season ticket package. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for children. The seats will not be reserved and will be on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Advance ticket sales are being handled in the West Texas State University athletic ticket office on campus.

One of the features of Spirit Week held recently at Canyon Junior High School was Hex Day, on which students turned up in costumes that were bizarre, zany and whimsical. Pictured above are those judged the best — and most outlandish — in the school. Those pictured are, from left, Ken Dozier, seventh grade; Craig Howard, ninth grade; Susan Wilbur, eighth grade; Rhonda Wade, ninth grade and Robert Scott, eighth grade. Seated is Jackie Skarke, seventh grade.

Still another highlight of Spirit Week was Dress-Up Day, held last Friday at the school. Pictured above are the costume contest winners in the same order but in more orthodox garb.

Just Smell That Sausage!

The sausage is a'cooking today in the basement of St. Mary's Parish Hall in Umbarger as townfolk go into their final preparations for the 21st annual German Sausage Festival scheduled Sunday in the hall.

The event is expected to draw thousands from all over the Panhandle. Last year, about 3,000 people were served at the festival.

About 2,200 pounds of all-meat sausage is being prepared today for the event. About a month ago, 230 gallons of sauerdraut were made for the occasion.

This year's menu, in addition to the famous sausage and sauerkraut, includes homemade bread, mashed potatoes and gravy, relish dishes, green beans, applesauce and brownies.

Tickets for the dinner are priced at $2.50 for adults and $1.25 for children under 12. Children under six will be served free of charge.

A country store, stocked with homemade bread and other food items will again be a feature of the festival, along with a bazaar offering a variety of community-made needlework.

Meals will be served from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. The festival culminates at 8:30 p.m. with a dance for young and old alike in the Parish Hall. Music, provided by Tiny Lynn and his band, will include everything from German polkas and waltzes to the latest in American pop tunes.

Now in its 21st year, the Sausage Festival has truly come of age and has become a veritable institution in Umbarger.

Although its primary purpose is to raise money for church and community projects, most Umbarger residents agree that the Festival is much more than a money-making venture. Townsfolk say the occasion brings the people of the community and the area together in a festive spirit of warmth and friendliness.

Begun as a project of the Women's Altar Society, the annual festival has grown so popular in the region that the entire community — men and women alike — are now involved in the months of planning and preparation for the event.

Kids Inc. Basketball Registration Monday

Sign-ups for Kids Inc. Basketball are scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Canyon Community Center.

Boys and girls in grades 4-6 are eligible to join the teams, according to Dorothy Keith, secretary-treasurer of Kids Inc. in Canyon.

All registrants should be accompanied by parents or guardians, Mrs. Keith said. A fee of $5, covering referee fees, jerseys and equipment, may be paid at registration.

Mrs. Keith said that the organization is hoping to form at least 20 teams this year that will play each other in intramural action.

Practice is expected to begin immediately after registration, she said.

Kids Inc. officials are hoping to get in at least four or five weeks practice in time for a tournament slated during the Christmas holidays.

Practice sessions will be held in the Old Administration Building gym at West Texas State University. All games will be played in the WTSU Activities Center gym.

Each team will play from 6-9 games during the season in vying for the intramural championship.

Volunteers for coaching and scorekeeping are still being sought, according to Mrs. Keith. Those interested in volunteer work are asked to call Kids Inc. Round-Up Man Max Brummett at 655-3615 or 655-4335.

Delta Psi Kappa Women's PE Frat To Have Playday

Delta Psi Kappa, honorary women's physical education fraternity is sponsoring its annual playday Saturday.

All boys and girls in the first through eighth grade are invited to come to the West Texas State University Activities Center any time between 1-4 p.m. to participate in trampoline, swimming, basketball and other games.

Admission will be $1.

Local Honored For Scouting

Bill Walker, 27, son of Dr. and Mrs. Jack Walker of Canyon, was honored last weekend during a special ceremony by the Kwahadi Indian Scouts in Amarillo.

Walker, a Canyon High and West Texas State University graduate, received the Keyman award, the first of its kind ever presented by the scouts. He received the award for outstanding service to scouting.

Walker, who has been in scouting since he was eight years of age, is currently pursuing a doctorate in mathematics at Texas Tech and expects to receive his degree in May or August.

An Eagle Scout at age 14, Walker has served as assistant scoutmaster of a Canyon troop and scoutmaster of an Amarillo troop. He also served as assistant scoutmaster of a troop in Utah while he attended the University of Utah graduate school in 1968.

Currently, Walker is associate advisor of Post 80 in Amarillo, associate advisor of the Kwahadi Indian Scouts in Amarillo, advisor to the Order-of-the-Arrow, the South Plains Council and the Greater Salt Lake Council. He is co-sponsor of Alpha Phi Omega, national scout fraternity at Tech.

Walker graduated from WTSU in 1967. He is a member of Alpha Chi, Mary E. Hudspeth Honor Society and was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities in 1966.

3 Arrested After Raid In Amarillo

Three persons were arrested by Metro Intelligence officers and Randall County deputies last weekend and charged with possession of marijuana after officers found what was believed to be 14 baggies of marijuana at a South Amarillo home.

Christella Weeks, 19, of 4904 Oregon Trail, and David Evan Purl, 21, of 1911 Pittsburgh, were charged with felony possession of marijuana. Another man was charged with misdemeanor possession.

Randall County Dist. Atty. George Dowlen said officers entered the house at 4904 Oregon Trail about 8:45 p.m. Friday and found 14 baggies of a substance believed to be marijuana and "a large quantity of barbiturates."

The two were arraigned Monday before Justice of the Peace W.A. "Bill" Wilson.

News Brief

Mrs. J. P. Hammons, 104 12th St. recently returned from a short trip to Berryville, Ark. She was accompanied home by her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Hammons. While visiting with Mrs. Hammons, they toured Carlsbad Caverns.

Cowbelles Had Beef Booth At Food And Fiber Day

By MARY NEAL HENRY

TEXAS COWBELLES PROVIDED the Beef Booth at the Food and Fiber Appreciation Day at Western Plaza last Thursday. Willie Butler was the chairman. Food and Fiber Appreciation has been declared by Governor Dolph Briscoe and observances are being planned in most of Texas' 254 counties.

Randall County's Food and Fiber Appreciation Fair will be next week. Judge Woody Pond successfully chaired this occasion last year and we look forward to this year's as well.

GARY CULP, TAP'S representative in Amarillo, asked CowBelles to take charge of the beef display, only one of twenty two at the event that "kicked off" Food and Fiber Appreciation Month. Among celebrities present were the Maid of Cotton, Miss Irish Rose, and Miss WTSU.

COWBELLES ADOPTED THE theme, "Golden Spread — Beef Capitol of the World," and decorated in red, white and blue. A large map of the Golden Spread area and feed lot locations hung in the booth with the information that five million head of beef have been produced. Meat posters advertising the new charts of standard meat cuts and new labeling were used. The huge beef posters and facts about beef were also used.

SIX BALES OF hay formed a pyramid and were draped with a green cloth and streamers. This was decorated with white and red mums and pumpkins and maize heads. One woman asked Willie, what the maize head was. Willie explained that the maize was feed for cattle.

THE MAIN ATTRACTION was a table of beef cuts on ice accented by radishes and parsley. Beef was given away every two hours. Taylor and Sons donated rolled beef steak skirts; Coopers donated sirloin tip steak; Sexton Grocery of Happy donated two pounds of stew meat; the John Butlers donated hamburger patties and ground chuck wrapped in packages. Robertson's market donated the first huge roast given away by the Oldham County CowBelles. It was won by a Pennslyvania woman who was visiting in Amarillo. Happy's roast was won by Gary London, a maintenance man in the Western Plaza Mall.

SHARON MILLS OF Clarendon won Hereford CowBelles' six flank steaks; Darrell Nipp, employed in one of the stores in the plaza won the roast donated by Terra Cotta CowBelles. Top of Texas also donated a roast. At the close of the day, all the beef cuts on the table were drawn for and given away. Beef education is on the move.

COWBELLES WHO WORKED were Willie Butler, Modenia Rahlfs, LaNelle Todd, Myra Nell Culp, Vivian Woods, of Happy; and Oldham County, Terra Cotta, Top of Texas and Hereford CowBelles. WTSU sponsored an agriculture booth showing the many fields of agriculture that are available for study at WTSU.

A BUS TOUR from Canada, a group from California and people from many walks of life stopped by the display.

RANDALL COUNTY FOOD and Fiber Appreciation Fair is next week. Make your plans to attend. I may point out to you that the name last year was Food and Fiber Abundance. Since the shortages have occurred, Appreciation seems to be the word more appropo.

MIKE MOTHERAL FROM Kress and a WTSU student was our visiting song director at the First Baptist Church last Sunday, Mike sang a beautiful special which included these words, "A piece of bread could buy a bag of gold." We might all think on that!

PAULA HEIL, BARBARA and Beverly Dowd, Connie Hand, Denise Cope, Linda Railsback and Barry Stevens attended a Lay Witness Mission in Tahoka last weekend.

HAPPY JAYCEES AND Jaycee-Ettes Halloween party for their families was Wednesday evening of last week. Children's costumes were judged, prizes were given for the most points in the bean toss and ball throw. Other children were also allowed to go through the Spook House later on in the evening. Sacks of treats were passed out to each child. Candied apples, cookies, and witches brew were served everyone.

DANA FOSTER AND Leja Grubb won the prize for scariest. They were a two-headed monster. Jacinda Stockett won cutest, as a gypsy. Connie Venhaus won most original. Connie was a Jack-O-Lantern. Kim Foster won the bean toss prize. We missed the annual Jack-O-Lantern carving contest by the Jaycees. It is usually the highlight of the evening. The hour grew too late on a school night to allow time for it.

VALERIE TIPPS, DEBRA Magness, Sherry Starkey, Lea Crawford, Eddie Joe Pearson, and Guy Walt Via participated in the Tascosa Tri-State High School Rodeo at the coliseum last weekend. Ping Crawford announced for Tascosa. Bill Thorpe clowned. Bill does a fine job. Charlie Thompson produced the show, assisted by S. E. Mayo. Riding judges were Dash Danner and Doug Taylor. They did a fine job, also. (Nice guys to work with.) S. W. Pope is Tascosa's sponsor. Mr. Pope is a very fine gentleman.

DENNIS HOWELL IS vice-president of the Tascosa Tri-State High Rodeo Club. Dennis is our friend and one of your Canyon boys. Ben Garrett, active in WTSU, was one of the arena directors and everywhere helping out.

ALL ROUND GIRL was Barbara Halford of Quanah. She received a saddle. They presented the All Round Boys saddle to Jerry Fulgham of Clovis, N.M. But Jerry told them that he and his friend, Ben Pierce also of Clovis, tied with sixteen points. They flipped for the saddle and Ben Pierce won it. Sportsmanship like that leaves no room for doubt in the integrity of our children's generation. Jerry Fulgham is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benny Fulgham.

QUANAH WON THE girls team trophy with twenty points and Dumas won the Boys Team Trophy with twenty-four and a half points. A team must be submitted to be eligible for these team trophies.

DICK FOSTER, GENE Shipman, Vincent Venhaus, Dean Bryan, Jim Whitlow, Leon Anderson, and Randy Johnson attended a Work Forum and Pancake supper in Amarillo on Saturday evening at the Amarillo Jaycee building on the fair grounds. They won the travel trophy.

LILA VICK'S AUNT and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Vennie Blair of Louisville, Kentucky, visited in the James Vick home at Wayside last week.

BETTY TIPPS' SISTER, Barbara Witte of Chula Vista, Calif., visited the Floyd Tipps last week. Barbara also visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Murphy of Vigo Park.

GWYNN TUCEK WAS hostess to the Sunnyhill Home Demonstration Club last week. She served spiced tea, coffee and donuts to Mary Wilhelm, Mary Jane Miller, Shirley Williams, Traverne Vermeire, Barbara Danner, Phyllis Bryan, Betty Miller, Rita Tucek, Becky Hall, Mrs. Alice Neeley and Mary Neal Henry.

BECKY HALL, RANDALL County Extension Agent, presented the program, "How to Live on What you Make." Becky also told the club about the Food and Fiber Appreciation Fair plans and PEP meeting. Governor Dolph Briscoe is expected for the PEP meeting on Friday, Nov. 16.

BARBARA DANNER READ the council recommendations and they were adopted by the club. Plans were made to hostess council later this month.

SUNNYHILL HOME DEMONSTRATION Club is hostess today for the Senior Citizens Luncheon at the Happy Jaycee Hall. Hostesses for the event are Helen Bryan, Barbara Danner, Gwynn Tucek, Mary Wilhelm, Traverne Vermeire, Jorja Smith.

THEY HAVE MADE special programs for the day and will award each of those in attendance a free ticket to Thanksgiving Dinner at Al's Restaurant. Al and Margaret are serving turkey and dressing on Sunday, Nov. 18, but will honor these free tickets another day if the senior citizens cannot use their ticket on Nov. 18.

THESE TICKETS WERE donated by the Junior High Sunday School Class of the Methodist Church, Carl Bryan's Trucks, Consumers Supply, First State Bank, Harman-Toles Elevator, Sunnyhill Home Demonstration Club, Happy Wheat Growers, Wallace Motor Company, Tirey Hardware, Lloyd's Auto Parts, and Mary Neal Henry, president-elect of the Texas CowBelles. I said I'd be good natured about their eating turkey for Thanksgiving, but I'll expect them to eat beef for Father's Day next year.

JANIE DORIS FROST called me from her mother's home this last week and wished me well. She also told me that the New Mexico State CowBelle Convention is in Albuquerque in March and invited me. I plan to attend if the dates do not conflict with our mid-year meeting.

SANDY WOODS IS one of 17 students at Wayland Baptist College who has been nominated for inclusion in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, according to the Dean of Students office which coordinates the selection of nominees. Sandy, who is the daughter of Vivian and George Woods, served as campus activities chairman, pledge mistress, treasurer, scholastic chairman and parliamentarian of Theta Alpha Psi, and as a member of the dormitory council of Fleming-Mays Hall. She holds membership in Student Choir, Wayland Band, and was a member of Queen Bees. Miss Woods has been a cast member of "Mame," a state and national track qualifier and a resident assistant. Congratulations, Sandy!

HAPPY JAYCEE-ETTES INVITE you to their next meeting, Tuesday, Nov. 13. Mrs. Tommy White, affiliated with the Coffee Memorial Blood Center, will present the program. You are urged to be present at the Happy Jaycee Hall on Tuesday evening at 8 p.m.

HAPPY JAYCEE-ETTES ANNUAL Tasting Tea is Friday, Nov. 16, from three to five o'clock in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. John Butler and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McCarley. The Tasting Tea and door prize registration will be at Willie Butler's home and the Bake Sale at Opal McCarley's home. Cookbooks will be given to all those who purchase baked goods.

MRS. FLORA MIDDLETON is reported better this week.

WOMEN'S STUDY CLUB met Tuesday in the Mark Nichol's home with Mrs. Bob Johnston as co-hostess. Mrs. Dick Railsback was in charge of the program.

GWYNN TUCEK'S GRANDMOTHER, Mrs. Alice Neeley of Bledsoe has been visiting the Weldon Tuceks for the past two weeks. Her aunt was also there this week.

HAPPY ARTISTS CLUB met on Friday evening at the Happy Sign Co. Irene Hardaway served donuts, coffee, spiced tea and cokes to Gay Fellers, Alene Adams, Joy Cox, Ernestine Danner, Letha Fullerton, Carolyn Kimbrell, Helene McFarland, Ollie Nichols, Lawana Selvidge, Mary Womack, Peggy Bell, Phyla Harman, Janie Mann, Hattie Bradley, Ada Riley, and guest, Ruth Maynard.

RUTH MAYNARD DEMONSTRATED how to paint a rose. Roses, they tell me are very hard to paint. Ruth painted two for them in very little time.

NOV. 24, THE Happy Artist will have a hanging in Sunset Center. This will only be for the one day, and will include Artist Studio Clubs from the whole area.

HAPPY ARTIST CLUB also plans a hanging in the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock during the months of March and April.

THE HAPPY SIGN Co., one of Happy's newest businesses, is featurnng a shop in the front of their building on the corner of Highway 87 and Northern Ave. (or is it street?) The shop will feature hand made articles by people of this area. It is open now for your browsing or buying. Or if you'd like to sell something on consignment, contact Gay Fellers at 749-4061 in Happy.

MARY ANN SIMS, President of the District FTA, presided at the District Meeting of FTA in Canyon at the Activities Center on the WTSU campus. Brenda Dietz was corresponding secretary and Sherry Walker is District Advisor. This district includes twenty six counties. This is quite an honor for Happy. Happy can be pleased with the impressions these made as leaders in District FTA.

THE 4-H ACHIEVEMENT Banquet in Swisher County is this Saturday evening at the Tulia school cafeteria.

HAPPY 4-H BEGINS this Monday evening at seven o'clock SHARP at the Jaycee Hall.

DON'T FORGET THAT Cowbelles Installation Banquet is Wednesday, Nov. 14, at 11:30 at the Yum Yum Tree in Canyon. See you there! I'll bring by TEXAS Cowbell to show you.

See ya,
Mary Neal

Federated Clubs Sponsor Dinner

The Canyon Federated Clubs held its annual supper Monday evening at Canyon Junior High School.

Represented were the five member-clubs, including the Women's Book Club, the Sue Hite Club, the Canyon Study Club, the University Study Club and the Heritage Study Club.

About 80 people attended the dinner. Guest speaker was Mrs. Don Max Vars, Top of Texas district president. The Canyon High School Show Choir provided musical entertainment.

Mrs. Korkye Martin presented a short discussion on the Canyon division of the Opportunity Plan, Inc., one of several organizations that the Federated Clubs assist through their fund-raising projects throughout the year.

Giving short presentations were the five member club presidents including Mrs. Virginia Allen, Sue Hite Club; Nell Findley, Women's Book Club; Marilyn Dees, University Study Club; Harriet Brandon, Heritage Women's Club, and Susan Dolle, Canyon Study Club.

The Federated Clubs will sponsor its second annual Games Night on Dec. 1 in the West Texas State University Activities Center. Tickets for the event are priced at $1 apiece, and proceeds will go to Opportunity Plan, Inc.

Cooking What Comes Naturally Or The Culinary Gospel According To Ford

By ANN MELIN

For one who has long associated health foods with nudist colonies, murky-looking germ pastes and cattail-eating Euell Gibbonses, a meeting with Frank Ford, impresario of Hereford's Arrowhead-Mills natural foods company, was quite an eye-opener.

Ford was in Canyon Saturday morning autographing fresh-off-the-press editions of The Deaf Smith Country Cookbook at Cooper's Market here.

The book, copywrighted by Arrowhead-Mills and published by MacMillan and Co., is co-authored by Ford's wife, Marjorie Winn Ford. Other authors are Mary Faulk Koock, foods editor of the Texas Star, and Susan Hillyard, professional photographer and natural foods cook.

The cookbook, an impressive collection of taste-tempting dishes prepared from organic ingredients, may just put the Texas Panhandle in the vanguard of the natural foods movement.

Just reaching the stands about two weeks ago, the cookbook is already selling like hotcakes (whole wheat ones, that is).

Ford reports that thousands of copies have already been sold nationally, and the book has captured the discerning heart and palate of the New York Times foods editor, who devoted a half-page in that metropolitan paper to Ford and his country-bred cooking ideas.

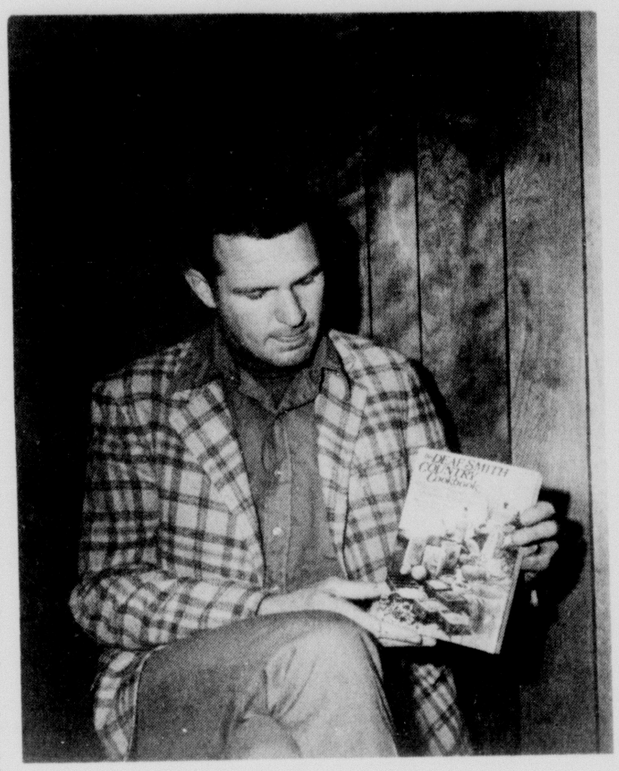
Part of the reason for the cookbook's spectacular success may emanate from the dynamism of its No. 1 promoter, Frank Ford. An energetic man with an almost messianic zeal about natural foods, Ford spent an hour with this reporter before converting her into a true believer.

While man has been making awesome advances in technical and medical technology over the past 50 years, he hasn't been paying mind to what he's been putting in his stomach, Ford says.

Modern man could save a lot of expenses in medical bills if he'd just start practicing preventive medicine, which begins above all in the family kitchen, he added.

"Have you ever read the ingredients labels on the packaged foods you're buying?" Ford asks. "There's about 2,000 different coloring agents, preservatives, emulsifiers and other chemicals in them that are foreign to the human body, that just weren't designed for human consumption."

As he spoke of the dearth of nutrition in pre-packaged foods and of the long-run harmful effects that their additives may cause to the body, this reporter felt her breakfast-in-a-box, consumed hours before, churning ominously in her stomach. The five-minute, works-in-a-skillet stroganoff of the evening before was prompting dyspeptic guilt feelings, too.



Frank Ford and cookbook

Suddenly, the reporter wished the cup of coffee on the desk wasn't so conspicuous. But Ford's culinary evangelism emphasizes the positive. Rather than exacting repentance for eating habits most foul, Ford merely suggested that the brew be substituted for herb tea — "it's delicious and beneficial," he said cheerfully.

After exorcising the evil spirit of TV dinners and over-processed victuals, Ford spoke in almost reverent tones about those naturally-delicious, nutritious foods grown on God's good green earth. Foods that bring one back into harmony with nature. Foods that can be prepared more cheaply than their vapid, pre-packaged substitutes that so often find their ways to the dinner tables of America.

How does one get back into harmony with nature after becoming a habitual addict of overprocessed, empty foods?

According to Ford, one gets back on the road to good nutrition by substituting whole, unrefined foods for refined ones, and by eliminating harmful foods and substances from favorite recipes. "Cooking becomes a matter of combining natural flavors rather than of seasoning foods to some preconceived taste," he says.

Among substitutions that are suggested are the omission of all-purpose flour for whole wheat flour or other whole grain flours; of boxed cereals for Granola or whole, flaked or cracked grains; of sugars for raw, unfiltered honey or pure maple syrup; of salt for sea salt, kelp powder or tamari soy sauce, of white rice or other refined grains for brown rice or whole grains.

The process of conversion to natural foods should be gradual, Ford says. After substituting ingredients in familiar foods, one slowly expands one's diet into new foods.

Although the Deaf Smith Country Cookbook comprises a collection of natural foods cuisine that sounds international in character (including such dishes as Malaysian Lemon-Rice Soup, Apricot-Almond Souffle and Vegetable Quiche) Ford emphasizes the fact that the easy-to-prepare recipes stress whole grains, beans and seeds that are grown widely here in the Texas Panhandle.

The phenomenal success of the cookbook therefore augurs well for area farmers.

If the maxim "you are what you eat" holds true, then Frank Ford has been eating supremely well.

Starting out as a Deaf Smith county wheat farmer, Ford accumulated 15,000 hours of tractor time before he started peddling his stone-ground flour to area grocery stores in 1960.

Ford would haul the flour to the stores in his pickup and the store managers would agree to sell his product on consignment. As often as not, the flour didn't sell. For the first six years of its existence, Ford's tiny enterprise was losing money.

Things started looking up in the mid-60s as Americans became more and more concerned with the endangered environment and began looking back with reverence at the nature-conserving ways of the American Indian and early settlers. The new interest in natural foods found Ford right in the vanguard of the movement.

By 1973, Ford's company was selling over 200 natural food products and had burgeoned into a multi-million dollar business.

While so many American industries tend to strip or pollute the environment, Ford's enterprise is aimed at bringing conservation methods right into the American home.

After venturing into the world of natural food cooking, Ford says folks will probably become interested in growing their own organic gardens in a corner of their yards, "sprouting beans and seeds that can be raised right in the kitchen and turned into delicious, nutritious salads, and perhaps, growing an herb garden right on your own window sill."

A deeply religious man, Ford believes that the tasteless, nutrition-less "convenience foods" of today can be linked to a general fragmentation of society, particularly to the disintegration of the family. Going back to the good, ole-fashioned cooking methods is one way of "drawing the family of humankind together," he says.

The link between healthful eating and spiritual matters recurs in the new-published Deaf Smith cookbook.

Frank Ford's gospel of good eating begins appropriately with a few well-chosen words from Genesis: "Behold I have given you every plant yielding seed which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree with seed in its fruit; you shall have them for food."

Somehow, after meeting Frank Ford, a trip to the grocery store hasn't been quite the same for this reporter.

Funeral Services Held For Mrs. Dora Lane

Funeral services were held Wednesday for Mrs. Dora Lane, 89, former resident of Canyon and Happy who died Sunday at the Wagon Wheel Nursing Home at Marble Falls, Tex.

Officiating at services held at the Canyon Assembly of God Church was the Rev. and Mrs. A.J. Pettit. Rev. Pettit is pastor of the Assembly of God Church, of which Mrs. Lane had been a member for 67 years.

Burial was in Happy Cemetery.

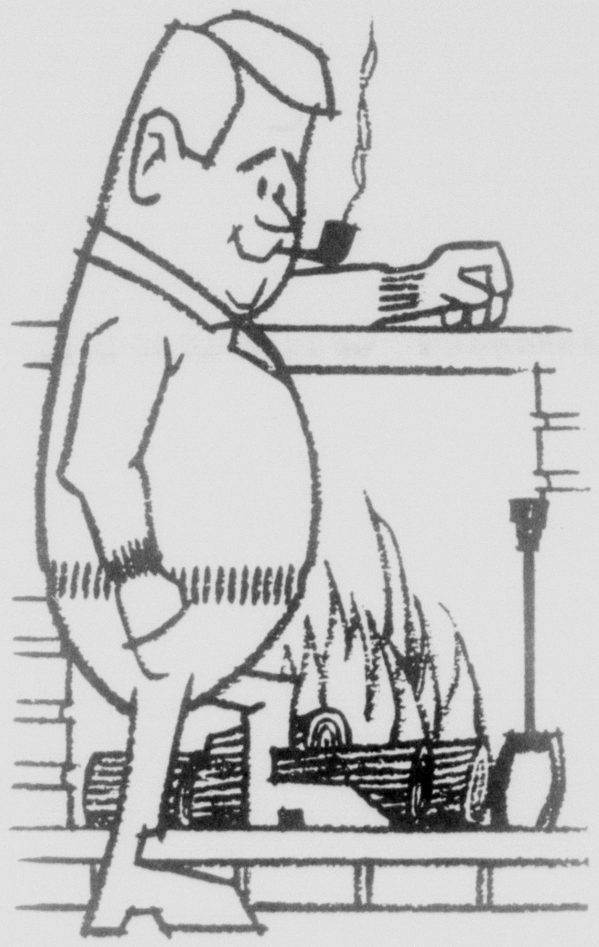
Pallbearers were Bill Pearson, W.A. Loven, Bill Townsend, Virgil Risner, Max Brummett and Joe Grady Crowley.

Survivors include one son, Marvin E. Lane of Fresno, Calif.; four daughters, Mrs. Barbara Gathings, Quemado, Tex.; Mrs. Delia Watson and Mrs. Mary Frazier, Marble Falls, and Mrs. Bess Legg, Granada Hills, Calif. Also, seven grandchildren, 13 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Army Basic Training Completed By Halsted

Army Private Steven G. Halsted, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Halsted, Rt. 2, completed eight weeks of basic training at the U. S. Army Training Center, Infantry, Ft. Polk, La.

He received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.



Remember Me?

"I'm the fellow who goes into a restaurant, sits down and patiently waits while the waitresses finish their visiting before taking my order. I'm the fellow who goes into a department store and stands quietly while the clerks finish their little chit-chat. I'm the fellow who drives into a service station and never blows his horn, but lets the attendant take his time. You might say I'm the good guy. But do you know who else I am? I'm the fellow who never comes back. It amuses me to see business spending so much money every year to get me back. . . when I was there in the first place.

And all they needed to do was give me some service, and extend a little courtesy."

County 4-H'ers Received Awards

By JULIA WHEELER
4-H Program Assistant

Tuesday from 7:30-9:30 p.m. 4-Hers from Randall County were presented awards in the Annual Awards Program at the Canyon Community Center for their efforts in the 4-H programs in Canyon.

The young people receiving awards and the category they were cited for are as follows:

Gold Star Winners, Debbie, Hales and Willie Hales; Achievement, Johnny Crowley, Jay Findley and Debbie Hales; Agricultural, Floyd Hartman, Jill Leavitt and Linda Hartmen; Automotive, Mike Smith, Ray Leggitt, Michael Hinsley and Melanie Austin; Bread, Sandi Nelson; Clothing, Allison Clifford, Marianne Wieck, Patti Williamson and Anita Adams.

Mrs. Oscar Hinger, 4th grade teacher at Rex Reeves Elementary School concluded the 4-H Mulligan Stew TV Series in her class with a play "Ted's Dream." The dramatization was used to conclude the health emphasis on the value of eating what is offered for school lunches. The art activity for the play was making large fruits, vegetables and meats to portray the characters: Malcolm Meat, Tommy Turnip Greens, Sally Salad, Melody Milk, Bobby Bread, Ora Orange and Cecil Cereal. Class members portrayed a food from the 4 food groups. Each child participated in a dietary recall for the previous day. For the first evaluation the children averaged 3 glasses of milk, 2 servings of a vitamin C rich food and one serving of vitamin A source. These foods are considered the protective foods and are the foods most likely to be neglected when eating haphazardly without planning by the 4 food groups.

A variety of witches, ghosts, hippies, cowboys, little girls that looked like old ladies, little boys that looked like little girls, bunnies, farmers, pot bellied men that really weren't (and some that really were), spanish dancers, princess, monsters, black cats, and a few normal people decended on the Rec Hall at Siesta on Oct. 27 to celebrate Halloween a few days early. Members, parents, and guests of the Randall Longhorn 4-H Clubs were guided through a haunted house by Mrs. Shelby Robinson. Featured in the haunted house were Mrs. Benny Turner as a witch; Mrs. O.J. Lowry, ghost; Ted Wheeler, corpse; Steve Ray, fortune teller; and Donnie Ray, wild dog. Games were played after refreshments were served. About 40 people attended the party.

County Judge Woody Pond to contact several Amarillo architectural firms to meet with the county next Monday to make presentations on a new courthouse annex due construction in South Amarillo.

Commissioner John Fulgenzi opposed the idea of going to architectural firms outside the Amarillo area.

"It's local money," he said. "Going out of town is wrong as far as I'm concerned."

Commissioner Paul Lindsey also agreed as did Bill Butler.

The firms will be asked to make a presentation on their services as a prelude to the commission selecting an architect for the new annex.

In other business Monday, commissioners approved the following:

— a bid of $535 from Amarillo Office Machines and a bid of $490 from Monroe of Amarillo for two calculators for the tax office.

— a service contract increase of $63 per year for heating and maintenance equipment in the courthouse.

Hutton said, however, he is not sure of the law on whether there is a time limit on when another petition can be taken out and circulated. Noting that only one election can be held in a precinct in one year, he said he wasn't sure whether that rule applied also to the circulation of a petition.

In October and November of 1972, students circulated a similar petition only to have the same result. Not enough signatures were gained on the petition and the issue did not go to the ballot last year.

The petition circulation has raised opposition in the Canyon area. Several students joined with local church leaders to register to vote students who were opposed to the local option vote.

The Prairie, student newspaper at WTSU, in an editorial signed by its editor, Larry Bradley, supported the issue. Later, an editorial by another student journalist did not support the issue.

Hutton said the county spent $32 on printing the petitions for the election.

should win the 1973 title.

He says he told Panhandle townspeople to mix some caution with their optimism in an effort to avoid the kind of disappointment which is now rampant in the area.

"Then at the Missouri Valley Conference press meeting (pre-season conference), I did the same thing," he said. "I pointed out that we realized we slipped in the back door last year. Consequently I felt we shouldn't be rated as high as we were at the meeting."

The Buff coach came home from that pre-season meeting with the Buffaloes rated number one in the conference.

"I'm not a very optimistic coach and I made every effort I could," Mayfield said.

Mayfield said he also levelled during opening practice sessions with his team. While their hopes were also in the clouds, he gave them some figures to bring them back to earth.

"I put on the blackboard who we beat last year and then I put the people we didn't play last year. I was aware Tulsa and Louisville would have good ball clubs."

In retrospect, Mayfield sees that strange phenomenon which surrounds football teams. The news media and fans simply did not want to believe that the Buffaloes, a champion in 1972, could not repeat the performance in 1973 — even when the evidence indicated the fact.

"Part of the outset of our problems was because not only did the news media and fans not want to hear that, I'm not sure the football team wanted to hear it," he said.

The fact is, Mayfield says, that the Buffaloes were just not ready to be a championship team. They're a team still rough around the edges, a team which although it has the spirit to win doesn't have the know-how yet.

"We had a buzz session about two weeks ago and I could see then that most players had the feeling subconsciously that we were a lot better team than we'd been playing," Mayfield said.

That feeling is unfounded, he said, because the Buffs are still building. Their expectations, the expectations of the media and the fans were not founded on reasonable evidence, but upon desire.

"If we had not been picked so high, it wouldn't have been so hard on our fans or nearly so hard on our players," he said.

A truly green and relatively inexperienced team, heady on a pre-season poll which named then number one, found itself quickly and tremendously demoralized with the injury early in the season of Billy Pritchett, a fullback the coaching staff had placed a lot of stock in.

"All of us knew we didn't have the depth, but we thought we had better depth than we had especially at running back," Mayfield said.

The lack of experience took an early bite into the Buffaloes as their defense and offense proved inconsistent.

While seeking consistency in the line, Mayfield said he was also trying to adapt his game plan to those of his opponents.

Perhaps early widespread criticism, particularly from the Amarillo media, was leveled at Mayfield for alternating his quarterbacks, Don Nava, a passer, and Mike Wartes, a runner.

"I naturally thought that was the thing to do until Nava got some experience," Mayfield said.

He felt, too, that Wartes was playing good games and hesitated to replace experience with inexperience.

"I didn't think it would be best for his (Nava's) development to thrust him into starting quarterback," Mayfield said, "and I didn't think Mike was doing that bad."

Throughout the season, the Buffs have, here and there, lost players.

That, Mayfield believes, is a natural result of a losing season. Football, he says, is not very much fun when the team is losing. It's work, hard work and many find the work unequal to the pleasure.

"I'm not trying to say I haven't made some errors," Mayfield said. "I was probably in error not printing it when a player quit. But, I don't know any college coach who tries to publicize that."

Mayfield believes though that no player has quit the team with a grievance.

"The one's who've talked to me say football is just not that much fun anymore," he said. "Only one starter quit because he thought he wasn't getting to play enough. There's no deep mystery or significant underlying cause.

"A coach has to decide who is to play. I don't harbor any resentment against Cole (Fraley, the running back who recently quit) but I couldn't live with myself if I didn't play with a young man who's doing the best job."

Mayfield said he's disappointed at the insinuation that those who have quit the Buffaloes have done so for "some deep cause."

Coupled with the fans' and team members' unwarranted belief that the Buffaloes were strong competitors for the Valley title this year, Mayfield places the factor of momentum of losing, in explaining the 1972 season.

"The coach can hardly do anything when he's losing," he said. "He just has to hope the boys have enough character and pride and that's one of the tests of football."

Mayfield said a losing season is like a snowball rolling downhill. A team which faces several losses has a difficult time beating even an evenly-matched opponent.

Mayfield talked with his team after suffering terrific losses to Tulsa and North Texas, two teams he admits the Buffs should have beaten had it not been for loss momentum.

"I told them 'you've been in a real test situation now. Who are you going to start blaming?,' " he said.

"It's hard for a player to say we're just not that good."

Mayfield sees substantial good coming from the dreary 1973 season, good which will spread to a more mature, a tougher and a harder-working 1974 ball club.

"I hope and think they are developing some pride and character. You don't get character from winning — you get it from losing. You really learn when you're losing."

If the lesson is to be learned, the Buffaloes have learned it this season and Mayfield believes it's a lesson which will make the '74 maroon a vastly different team.

are responding with record production to meet domestic and foreign demands," Brazzil said. "Cash payments gained from sales of agricultural products to foreign markets is the only bright spot in our total international trade system and is greatly aiding our nation in its trade deficit."

Local farmers are responding to the increased demand and the loosening of controls by the federal government by breaking out land formerly unused for crop production.

Don Dolle, soil conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service in Canyon, said about 300 acres of formerly unused land has been turned into crop land in recent weeks by farmers responding to the demand.

And, he warned that land being broken out, if not used with proper conservation methods, could be more a liability than an asset to farmers.

"Some people are predicting that farmers will bring several thousand acres of former 'set-aside' acreage back into production in Texas in the next year," Dolle said. "This is considered to be the best and quickest way to check food price increases.

"But, it's also the quickest way to increase dust storms, sediment pollution and other erosion problems unless sound conservation measures are installed."

Dolle said there is much land in the county which could be used for crops, but some land would be unsuitable.

"Our soil surveys show which soils can be farmed safely," he said. "They also can be used to determine which soils are most productive. Careful planning can hold erosion hazards to a minimum, but carelessness can quickly return us to the disastrous erosion conditions that existed in the 1930s and 1950s."

Dolle urged that farmers thinking of breaking out formerly unused acreage contact his office for any help in planning conservation measures.

amendment 6 by a margin of 404 to 175. They defeated amendment 7 by 300 to 290, amendment 8 by a 394 to 193 vote and amendment 9 by 347 to 247.

Local voters approved amendment 2 by 494 to 111, amendment 3 by 490 to 117, amendment 4 by 375 to 210 and amendment 5 by 322 to 255.

The vote in Canyon was substantially lower than the figure projected by Hutton, who anticipated 1500 voters. But, it was twice as many voters as cast ballots in the 1971 special election.

During that election 2195 voters went to the polls, or about 10.7 per cent of the electorate.

News Brief

Raymond Raillard, manager of the musical-drama "TEXAS" returned late Wednesday from a conference at the Outdoor Drama Institute at Chapel Hill, N.C., where he appeared on several panels. Raillard spoke on what to do for guests besides take them to the show and also on training for show personnel who meet the public.

Board Hears Gene Howe Ideas

Canyon School Board members did more listening than talking Tuesday night as they heard teachers and administrators at Gene Howe Elementary give presentations and evaluations of the educational program at that school.

What was termed by one Gene Howe teacher as the "knowledge explosion" in elementary school curriculum today was the topic of much of the discussion.

The board members were told that elementary-age children were reading better and learning faster than were grade-schoolers ten years ago.

But if students aren't necessarily spelling better than their predecessors, it may be because much of their vocabulary is developed through listening to the spoken word on television, said fourth grade instructor Rose Mary Raemakers in response to a question by board member Ed Wieck.

And children are still learning "those good old-fashioned virtues, only in new and more effective ways," said kindergarten teacher Carol Hollingsworth.

Since the knowledge explosion of a computer age has rendered it impossible for teachers to teach everything, educators must address themselves to teaching students methods of "getting knowledge," one Gene Howe teacher said.

An exhibition of new textbooks and learning aids was also displayed at the meeting, which was held in the music room at Gene Howe.

Gene Howe principal Luther Lawless served as program chairman.

Vondine McGregor, director of elementary curriculum, presented a general discussion on educational developments on the primary level.

Evaluating the curriculum in the various grade levels were Carol Hollingsworth, kindergarten; Alicia Niemeier, first grade; Pat Stevens, second grade; Geraldine Woodward, third grade; Rose Mary Raemaekers, fourth grade; Cindy Capps, fifth grade, and Marion Shoemaker, sixth grade. Gaylia Cochran presented a short discussion on the special reading program at the school.

Voicing what was apparently the consensus of the board, Dudley Moore said he was highly impressed with both the educational program and the teachers at Gene Howe.

Amarillo," he said, noting that in the burglaries in South Amarillo as well as the burglaries here the same kinds of items have been stolen.

Stewart said there was no evidence at the scene of forced entry into the houses, which he said indicates that persons working on the construction may have some connection with the burglaries.

The Hunsley Hills burglaries were the first of their kind in Canyon.

Rolen said the only items installed yet stolen was a sink in one of the homes.

Items taken included two stoves, two dishwashers, two ovens, two garbage disposals, several rolls of wallpaper and light fixtures.
